Writer Edna Ferber Dies In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Novelist and playwright Edna Ferber, whose bigger-than-life portrayals of American life earned her a fortune, died today at the age of 80.

The spinster writer who was one of the original Algonquin Hotel roundtable wits won the Pulitzer Prize in 1924 with her novel "So Big". Her most enduring work was the novel "Show Boat", which became a play with music by Jerome Kern, a film, and finally a radio series. It was daring for its times because it dealt with racial discrimination.

Altogether Miss Ferber wrote 23 novels, most of them grist for the movie mill, over a span of nearly 60 years. She had six plays to her credit including "The Royal Family", "Dinner at Eight", "Stage Door", and "The Land is Bright". Her last novel, "A Kind of Magic", was published in 1963.

A British critic once described Miss Ferber as "the novel-reader's John Gunther" because of her proclivity for locale writing. She moved from section to section of the United States, choosing turbulent moments of history to fictionalize with broad strokes of color, action and romance.

EDNA FERBER
Fortune from writing

Like the good journalist she was in her youth, she published "Ice Palace", a rip-roaring saga of Alaska, in 1958, the year Alaska became a state. There was less controversy over this novel than over "Giant", a sweeping novel about Texas that infuriated Texans, sold 3 million copies, and brought new film laurels to James Dean, Elizabeth Taylor and Rock Hudson.

Miss Ferber was born in Kalamazoo, Mich., in 1887 and was reared in Appleton, Wis. She went directly from high school to work for the Appleton Daily Crescent at $3 a week. She later was a reporter for the Milwaukee Journal and the Chicago Tribune. After her first novel "Dawn O'Hara", published in 1911, she moved to New York which has been her home ever since.

Despite Criticisms North Viets Seen As Ready To Talk

TOKYO (UPI) — North Vietnam accused President Johnson again today of stalling on a site for preliminary peace talks but brought out of retirement former Foreign Minister Xuan Thuy who could be a tough negotiator once the talks actually start.

Nham Dan, the official Communist Party newspaper in Hanoi, said in an editorial broadcast by Hanoi Radio that Johnson was guilty of a lack of goodwill and said the United States had failed "to match its deeds with its words.'

It accused the Johnson administration of trickery "to delay contacts and ease public protest." There have been a series of such charges since diplomatic maneuvering over a site began March 31 when Johnson de-escalated the air war against North Vietnam.

So far North Vietnam has suggested Phnom Penh, Cambodia, and Warsaw as site of the talks. The United States proposed Geneva then New Delhi, Jakarta, Rangoon, Burma and Vientiane, Laos.

There were indications Hanoi was getting ready for negotiations.

Thuy, 56, was foreign minister for the Hanoi government from April, 1963, until April 1965, when he retired because of ill health. Informed observers in Saigon expressed belief he would be named chief negotia-

Reagan Wants Revival Of Old Tax Exemptions

GOV. RONALD REAGAN
Far from glum today over unofficial supporters
(AP Wirephoto)

Still Opposes State Withholding Scheme

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan proposed today abolition of the new state income tax "credits" and a return to the former system of standard exemptions for taxpayers and their children and dependents.

The Republican governor agreed during his weekly news conference that the tax credit system, part of his $1 billion tax increase measure last year, had worked a burden on the middle-income group—particularly those with children.

This means several hundred thousand California wage earners who didn't have to pay the state income tax this year because they were in low brackets will face a tax of $1 to $14.50 next year, if the bill passes, Reagan said.

The Governor, who was among the hundreds of thousands to pay their taxes in the final hours before the Monday midnight deadline, reiterated he is opposed to payroll withholding of state income taxes.

VENEMAN VIEW

Republican Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto is proposing withholding and hopes that a "tax backlash" will lend support for the bill. Veneman will sponsor Reagan's measure to switch back from the tax credits — $50 for a couple and $8 for each dependent—to the exemption system. (See also tax story on page 9.)

The exemption — subtracted from gross income — would be $1,000 for a single taxpayer, $2,000 for a married couple filing a joint return and $600 each for dependents.

EXPECTS PROTEST

Before last year's changes, the personal exemption amounted to $3,000 for a couple and $600 for each dependent.

Reagan said he expected a big protest against the higher income taxes which had to be paid by last midnight. But he said he's confident the people realize they are paying now for "the fiscal irresponsibility" of the previous Democratic administration.

WILL NOT 'RUN AWAY'

Reagan Studying Grass Roots Aid

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan said today he is going to assess the significance of grass roots Reagan - for - President groups, saying "I'm not going to run away and pretend it isn't happening."

Reagan also told newsmen that New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is in the race for the Republican presidential nomination "by his own words."

Asked who he considered potential contenders for the nomination, he first listed the names of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Harold Stassen, the only two announced candidates, then listed Rockefeller "as No. 3."

Still maintaining he is not a candidate, he said Rockefeller's name as a potential candidate was followed by "a whole galaxy of names, including my own."

But he insisted he was not seeking the nomination and, in talking to reporters after his news conference, he said "the job seeks the man."

Reagan said F. Clifton White, the 1964 Barry Goldwater strategist hired as a political adviser by Reagan's favorite son delegation to the GOP National Convention, had informed him of the citizens groups around the country, and "I was interested."

When told that Thomas Reed of Ross his unpaid political aide, was a nephew of a leader of a Texas Reagan group and a friend of an organizer of another Reagan organization, the governor said, "I know that people, friends of mine . . . feel this way. There isn't much I can do about it."

Reagan said he told members of his 86-vote favorite son delegation at a closed meeting in Los Angeles yesterday that they should avoid prematurely supporting any presidential contender.

School Vehicle Safety Check Query Raised

The list of students injured in a school van-school bus accident yesterday in Santa Venetia rose to 16 today, as questions remained about safety inspections of the two publicly owned vehicles involved.

One of the injured, Ed Laufer, 16, of 7 Roosevelt Avenue, Santa Venetia, remained in fair condition in Marin General Hospital with head injuries.

Besides the five taken to Marin General Hospital after the 7:45 a.m. accident yesterday, another was treated at Kaiser Hospital in San Rafael and 10 were given first aid treatment by the school nurse at Terra Linda High School, it was learned.

Only young Laufer remained hospitalized.

The others, all from Santa Venetia and all students at Terra Linda High, were:

Treated at Marin General: Julie Lagier, 15, of 8 Lowell Avenue; Clair Poynter, 15, of 170 Whittier Avenue; Michelle Hansen, 15, of 809 Vendola Drive, and Jeanine Kingland, 16, of 811 Rincon Way.

Treated at Kaiser Hospital for bruises and scrapes: Robin Campbell, 16, of 805 Vendola Drive.

Human Rights Complaints Leveled At Bruce Deputy

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin human rights commissioners charged today that the county administrator's office, specifically Asst. Administrator Thomas F. Campanella, is constantly "harassing" the commission and its executive director, Austin J. Thompson.

The charges came at a workshop session of the commission and the Marin County Board of Supervisors at the Civic Center.

The supervisors, chaired by John F. McInnis in the absence of Ernest N. Kettenhofen, invited the human rights commissioners to go before the supervisors whenever such harassment occurs instead of letting the incidents accumulate to the explosive stage.

Rights director Thompson bluntly accused Campanella of interfering with policy matters instead of confining himself to budget matters.

"It's not Alan Bruce," said Thompson. "It's Mr. Campanella . . . I can't do an effective job with someone riding my shoulders. I do not appreciate having the administrator attacking the professionalism, motivation and competence of members of my commission."

Thompson declared that past executive directors quit the job because of harassment from the administrator's office. He demanded a clearcut answer on the line of authority. "Do I answer to my commission or do I answer to the county administrator?"

Commissioner Bella Aaron complained, "There have been a number of instances where the administrator has attempted to interfere with the carrying out of policy."

For example, said Mrs. Aaron, the county administrator recently issued a directive that police-community relations work should function through the district attorney's office rather than through the sheriff. Mrs. Aarons said she does not think this the administrator's function —to tell the commission how to operate.

"This is very disturbing to me," said Supervisor Thomas T. Storer. "The administrator has the duty to go over the budget. But it's surprising news to me that the administrator is stepping in and directing policy. I for one want it stopped."

County Administrator Bruce replied that his office makes suggestions but does not issue directives to the human rights commission. He said Thompson proposed a countywide training program for police officers, and "it was my suggestion and not a directive that discussions should start with the district attorney, who is the chief law enforcement officer of the county."

McInnis declared that frictions that develop should be aired publicly before the supervisors. "If there are issues, let's get it out in the open. Pound the table and say dammit, this has got to be straightened out."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that Thompson's loyalty should be primarily directed toward the human rights commission, but at the same time, he should not be given to complete immunity from the jurisdiction of the county administrator.

If there is harassment, Behr suggested that the first step should be for the harassed person to confront the other with a point by point discussion of the areas of friction. Then, if the problems cannot be ironed out, the issue can be brought before the supervisors.

The supervisors unanimously approved a field representative to aid executive director Thompson. The new post will pay a starting salary of $683 per month.

The supervisors said they have confidence in Thompson and the human rights commission and commended them for the job they are doing.

Students Aid Faculty Drive Vs. Ramstad

Associated Students of the College of Marin sided with faculty organizations yesterday by calling for the resignation of Dr. William K. Ramstad, superintendent.

The group, representing about two-thirds of the college's 2,591 day students, published a two-page broadside in which it was reported that a petition seeking Ramstad's resignation would be circulated on campus this week.

The newspaper, called Students' Voice, included a letter to students by Paul Tuttle, ASCOM president; several editorials and a cartoon — all critical to Ramstad for his alleged failure to include faculty in planning college expansion.

The ASCOM threw its support behind the Academic Senate, a faculty organization which voted April 5 to ask for Ramstad's resignation. The college Faculty Association earlier had joined the Academic Senate.

Ramstad has come under fire for allegedly hand-picking Dr. Louis H. Herkenhoff to succeed him as president of the Kentfield campus and for ignoring the faculty in planning the Novato campus.

In yesterday's broadside, Tuttle said the decision to circulate a petition and publish the paper was reached at a weekend

Johnson Presses Planning For Both War And Peace

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson, pressing Hanoi for an early and serious response to Vietnam peace efforts, is also bearing down on military problems in conferences at the U.S. Pacific command post.

Johnson's schedule today centered on a visit to the hilltop headquarters of Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, the Pacific commander in chief who will retire in July. The President said he wanted to talk about the military situation in Vietnam with Sharp and his designated successor, Adm. John S. McCain.

The President gave North Vietnam a new peace prod yesterday, soon after arriving in Honolulu.

As friends and critics vied for attention with shouts, chants and placards—the friends clearly were more numerous—Johnson reviewed peace efforts in an address from the steps of Iolani Palace, seat of the Hawaiian government. These efforts focus at this stage on finding a mutually acceptable preliminary meeting site.

Declaring "precious time is being lost," Johnson said:

"For us, this is not a propaganda exercise. We have sent serious and considered messages aimed at bringing about the earliest possible contact.

"What is needed today is an equally serious reply, reacting to our proposals for neutral sites or offering additional suggestions of neutral capitals where both of us have representatives and communications."

While here, Johnson said, he would discuss what he termed the twins paths to peace with the top military command and, on Wednesday, with President Chung Hee Park of South Korea, a somewhat restive ally concerned about American steadfastness in the Pacific area.

Park was flying in from Seoul tonight.

Johnson is expected to remain in Hawaii until Thursday. He is living about 10 miles outside the city at the seaside estate of the widow of the late millionaire industrialist Henry J. Kaiser.

Fierce Red Flack Downs Two Jets; Others Collide

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States lost four planes bombing North Vietnam yesterday in one of the air war's heaviest losses of the year, military sources said today. They said two jets were downed in heavy antiaircraft fire and two collided and crashed en route home.

Five of the six men aboard the four lost planes were rescued. An Air Force "Jolly Green Giant" helicopter plucked one pilot to safety 12 minutes after he ejected, a record for such combat rescue, according to military observers here.

American spokesmen said the losses came as the North Vietnamese threw up their heaviest antiaircraft fire since President Johnson limited bombing to the Communist nation's Southern Panhandle supply routes March 31.

In South Vietnam, U. S. B52 Stratofortresses today repeatedly bombed the main Communist supply route feeding guerrillas who ambushed two American Army units and a Navy river patrol force yesterday, in separate battles that killed nine GIs and wounded 87.

In the north, U. S. spokesmen said two Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs were shot down above the South Vietnam border.

After the same strikes two Navy F4B Phantom jets—fastest naval planes in the war—collided and plunged into the sea while heading back to their 7th Fleet aircraft carriers.

There was no indication what caused the collision.

Marines Honor Youth's Courage

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Marines staged a full dress parade today as the Medal of Honor was awarded posthumously to Pfc. Douglas E. Dickey, who was killed in Vietnam when he threw himself on a granade to save his buddies.

Navy Secretary Paul R. Ignatius, in conferring the nation's highest military honor on Dickey, said the 20-year-old Marine "reached the finest and most noble heights of human responsibility" in saving the lives of five other leathernecks and a Navy Corpsman.

The medal was presented to Dickey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Dickey of Rossburg, Ohio.

Marin Winds Hit 75-Mile Gusts

Cold, northerly winds reached almost hurricane velocities in Marin County last night, with the personnel at the Air Force Radar Station on Mount Tamalpais reporting winds in excess of 75 miles an hour in gusts.

The wind reached speeds about 45 miles an hor in central Marin last night; however, little damage has been reported.

A high pressure area just off the coast and lower pressures inland over Southern California and Nevada produced the winds. Cool and clear weather with decreasing wind is predicted for tomorrow.

Memphis Garbagemen Approve Settlement

MEMPHIS, Tznn. (UPI)—The city's 1,200 sanitation workers today agreed to end their 10-week-old strike that brought Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to Memphis and his death.

The agreement, including a form of union recognition and a dues checkoff provision, was hammered out in mediation sessions between city officials and representatives of the international union.

General Hails Russian Aid In Rearming The Egyptians

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

An Egyptian general hailed the success of Arab rearmament today and called on United Arab Republic pilots to double their training hours and flight time.

Gen. Mohamed Fawzi, U. A. R. minister of war, told Egyptian Air Force Academy graduates re-equipment of Arab armed forces by the Soviet Union since the June Mideast war had "changed our position of weaponry."

Fawzi's remarks came as Dr. Gunnar Jarring, United Nations peace envoy, prepared to carry his mission again to Cairo. Jarring meet tomorrow with Mahmoud Riad, UAR foreign minister, in what Arab sources said could be a last attempt by the Swedish diplomat to settle the Arab-Israeli confrontation.

Jarring has been attempting to gain compliance with a November U. N. Security Council peace resolution. Israel, victor in the June war, has insisted on direct negotiations with the Arab states.

The UAR and the other Arab states have held that the first step toward a peace settlement must be unconditional withdrawal of Israeli armed forces from territory occupied in the six-day war.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Greek Ex-Premiers In Trouble

ATHENS (UPI) — Two former Greek premiers, George Papandreou and Panayotis Kanellopoulos, were under house arrest today at the order of the nation's military junta. Police guards were posted yesterday at the homes of the two men and their telephone lines were out. Visitors were barred.

Papandreou

No explanation was given, but the two men have been critical of the regime's proposed constitution.

Both were originally arrested a year ago when the junta took control of the government but they were freed in a Christmas amnesty.

In another development, friends of former cabinet minister Ioannis Zigdis said he was arrested and was being held at police headquarters in Athens.

The telephone lines of other opponents of the regime have also been cut, a frequent punitive action against dissidents.

Blaiberg Gaining

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's only surviving heart transplant patient, marked his first full month at home today.

A medical bulletin issued by Groote Schuur Hospital said the 58-year-old dentist was maintaining excellent progress and leading a normal life.

Japanese Cautious

TOKYO (UPI) — The construction of Japan's tallest building near the official residence of the prime minister prompted officials to order bulletproof glass installed in windows of the residence, the government said today. They said a rifleman in the 36-story building would be able to fire into the west rooms of the residence.

No Kuchel Debate

SALINAS (UPI) — Sen. Thomas M. Kuchel, R-Calif., won't debate with Dr. Max Rafferty, his opponent in the June 4 GOP primary.

"I have no plans to divide the podium," Kuchel said here yesterday as he opened a weeklong campaign swing through Northern California.

Russ Lose Appeal

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Russian Supreme Court today rejected appeals of four young dissenters against "anti-Soviet" convictions that stirred angry protests both here and abroad.

The court deliberated 90 minutes before it ruled that the total of 15 years in prison sentences against the four would be upheld.

Lawyers for the best-known of the four, Alex Ginzburg, 31, had demanded that he be exonerated completely. The other three — Yuri Galanskov, 29, and Vera Lashkova, 28 — said they should have been tried on a lesser charge.

Minor Bomb Damage

PARIS (AP) — A homemade bomb exploded early today in front of the American Legion headquarters in Paris. It caused only minor damage, shattering the glass in the front door.

Wheelchair Racing Would Be Outlawed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Hot rodders in motorized wheelchairs would be outlaws under legislation proposed in the Assembly.

Assemblyman John Stull, R-Leucadia, introduced a bill yesterday to clamp a 15 mile per hour speed limit on self-propelled wheelchairs and invalid tricycles.

Negro Teens Asked For Summer Program

MONTPILIER, Vt. (AP) — Governor Philip H. Hoff says Vermont plans to import about 430 Negro teen-agers into the state this summer for an educational and recreational program set up in response to the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders.

The Negroes will take part in the program with 430 Vermont teen-agers, he said, and will be housed on college and high school campuses.

CORE Aide's Son Killed In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roy Innis Jr., 13, son of the associate director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) was shot to death last night in front of an apartment house. Police filed murder charges against a Negro man who said the child disturbed his sleep.

Police said the boy, son of Roy Innis Sr., a militant black nationalist leader, was shot as he fled into the street. The boy fell into the gutter in the Bronx ghetto neighborhood with a bullet in the back.

The child's uncle said Roy Jr. and his brother, Alexander, 12, were visiting their mother, Mrs. Violet Innis, who is separated from her husband.

Police went to the second-floor apartment of David Newborn, 49, and arrested him. A neighbor, Mrs. Carrie Smith, said Newborn was a "nice quiet man" who worked nights. She said he usually slept until shortly before leaving for work at 11 p. m.

Witnesses told police Newborn rushed down the stairs, chased the children out the front door of the lobby and fired a single shot, then ran upstairs.

The elder Innis, former director of Harlem CORE, was named associate director of CORE Dec. 28, 1966 by the organization's national director, Floyd B. McKissick.

India has been an independent republic since 1950.

CHICAGO ORDER

Arsonists: Kill; Looters: Maim

CHICAGO (UPI)—The mayor was angry. His message was terse.

Police who saw arsonsists were to "shoot to kill." Officers who saw looters were to "shoot to maim or criple."

While experts across the nation debated ways of handling mass racial disturbances, the orders moved from Mayor Richard J. Daley to Police Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr. to the cop on the beat within a matter of hours yesterday.

Any disturbance in Chicago that involved looting and firebombings or other forms of arson would be met with "deadly force," according to Daley, "in the interest of having a fine city."

His round Irish face stern and angry, Daley said he had discovered that during the recent rioting in Chicago—11 died and $10 million in fire damage was done—"every police officer out on the beat was supposed to use his own decision" about shooting arsonists and looters.

Daley called the news conference yesterday to announce formation of a nine-man blue-ribbon panel to study and analyze the riots and then launched into an attack on his own police department.

He told newsmen that he had assumed that the shoot-to-kill arsonists and the shoot-to-maim-and-cripple looters order was a standing directive. He said he was "disappointed that the order was not issued."

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, whose city was largely spared racial disturbances in the wake of the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has been credited with helping keep the peace.

Lindsay has said he ordered police to hold their fire on looters and arsonists in the belief that a man's life was more valuable than a suit of clothing. Lindsay has been criticized by some merchants in Harlem, including some Negroes, who believed police should have actively interfered with looters and arsonists during the night of unrest that swept ghetto areas April 4.

Daley grew visibly angry when he told a news conference that he had instructed Conlisk—days before the rioting broke out—to order his police officers to use "such force as is necessary, including deadly force" against arsonists and looters.

Abernathy: Fight For King's Dream

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Dr. Ralph Abernathy, successor to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., promised last night, "We, as black people are determined to make his dream come true." Monday.

Abernathy spoke to about 2,500 persons who jammed the auditorium of the Metropolitan Baptist Church in a rally supporting the more than 1,200 city sanitation workers whose strike entered its 10th week yesterday.

He blamed King's death —at the hands of a white sniper here April 4 — on "a racist and sick nation," "white society" "and some black people...who broke his heart and his spirit."

"These are the ones who gave the assassin reason to believe it was all right to kill Martin Luther King," he said.

"But there is another band who wil say you may kill his body, but we, as black people, are determined to make his dream come true.

"We have made up our minds," Abernathy said, "If our sons can die in a bloody and senseless war in Vietnam, then why the devil can't we fight and die, if necessary, here at home, come what will or come what may."

King Assassin Hunt Reported Near Deadend

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Deadend clues to a man who vanished without a trace apparently confronted FBI agents today in their investigation of the sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

False leads multiplied in the hunt for Eric Starvo Galt, a mysterious quiet-talking man whose last known address was a Birmingham rooming house. His former landlord said yesterday he had identified drawings shown by FBI agents as resembling Eric Galt.

'IT'S HIM'

"It's him," said Peter Cherpes, 72, who runs a two-story Southside boarding house where an Eric Galt lived for six weeks last fall.

Galt's abandoned white Mustang was impounded last Thursday by the FBI in Atlanta. It fit the description of a car seen leaving the scene after King was killed April 4 by a sniper firing from a rooming house in Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis witnesses described the suspected assassin, who registered as John Willard at a rooming house opposite King's motel, as about six feet and sandy-haired and "a clean, neat man."

NO TRACE

No trace of Willard has apparently been found.

An FBI alert for Eric Starvo Galt in a white Mustang was issued in Florida last Thursday, but was canceled. However, the FBI has continued a search for Galt's whereabouts or clues to his past.

After Cherpes disclosed what his boarder said of his work and background, Associated Press inquiries turned up blanks.

A Watchdog Docking Next For Russia?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western space experts believe the latest linkup of two Russian satellites has provided the Soviets with technical knowledge to move forward with two programs: to send men to the moon and to build a manned space station for military purposes.

The next step, expected soon, should be space dockings involving manned ships—a feat accomplished by America's Gemini astronauts as early as March 1966.

It is believed the Soyuz 1 flight last April was to have been the first Soviet space linkup. But the plans were upset when the spacecraft developed control and parachute problems that killed the cosmonaut pilot, Vladmimir M. Komarov.

While the Soyuz ship was being redesigned, the Soviets used the unmanned Cosmos 186 and 188 flights last October to gain their initial docking experience. They duplicated the exercise yesterday with Cosmos 212 and 213.

The repeat may have been necessary because of problems which cropped up on the October test. American specialists said the Russian radar on the main satellite (186) lacked the long-range precision of that on the Gemini craft.

The Soviets have said their man-to-the-moon plan involves first assembling a large space station in earth orbit, using it as a launch pad for lunar journeys. This would involve five or six launchings and hookups. If most of these could be achieved with unmanned launchings, the price tag would be considerably cheaper and the risk of life reduced.

Displaying Of Negro Dolls Being Urged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Church organizations are urging department stores to display Negro dolls as part of a drive against "white racism" in Southern California.

And a manual being prepared by United Presbyterian officials advises readers, "if you have young children or grandchildren, give them a Negro doll to love."

Taxi-Streetcar Crash Kills One

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Police are investigating a crash in which a cab driver was skilled and two Canadian passengers were injured in a collision with a streetcar in downtown San Francisco.

Robert Brown, 54, was dead on arrival at Harbor Emergency Hospital moments after his taxi veered into the path of the streetcar at First and Market streets.

Mr. and Mrs. John Travissof Banff, Alberta, were in serious condition at Mission Emergency Hospital.

Lull In German Riots; More Trouble Feared

BERLIN (UPI) — Radical leftwing students who fought police in 11 cities in West Germany's worst postwar street fighting rested today but vowed fresh action tomorrow against government authority and the Axel Springer press empire.

In Bonn, Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger placed the rioting at the top of the agenda for a cabinet meeting tomorrow.

City and state police refilled their mobile water cannons and tended to more than 500 persons arrested in five days' battling in West Berlin, Frankfurt, Hamburg, Munich, Dortmund, Hannover, Cologne, Esslinger, Essen, Bremen and Bremerhaven.

Still incomplete reports said that yesterday alone 194 demonstrators were arrested and dozens of students and police injured in the latest of the riots triggered by Thursday's shooting of SDS leader Rudi "Red Rudi" Dutschke by a young Munich housepainter who admires Adolf Hitler.

Dutschke's follwers directed their wrath at Axel Springer and his publishing plants at first. They claimed his newspapers created a "climate of hate" in which Josef Bachmann, 23, fired bullets into the face, brain and chest of Dutschke, 28, a radical leader fond of shouting "Ho Ho Ho, Ho Chi Minh." Doctors said Dutschke and Bachmann, who was shot by police capturing him, were recovering in Berlin hospitals.

But the rioting bred more targets. Today the students of the left were making lists of police they accused of "special brutality." They were demanding the resignations of mayors and police chiefs. They were demanding free time on radio stations. They were likely to get none of it.

In London, police today took 22 persons to court after a series of clashes at rallies and marches by thousands of Londoners sympathetic to the German radicals.

The anti-Springer campaign hase become a focus for a broad range of dissatisfactions from extremists who prefer "Maoist democrary" for the nation as a while to those who feel the university system is antiquated.

The students also object to what they call the "Springer monopoly on public opinion," since he controls about 25 per cent of West German newspaper circulation.

Plan Asked On Retarded Instruction

The Marin County Board of Education's special education committee will ask the board to retain control of the trainable mentally retarded program for Novato school children.

This would reverse an action of the board last month and of the Novato School District Board, at the latter's request.

Under the new proposal, the Novato district, while giving up control of its trainable mentally retarded program, would maintain its own program for the educable mentally retarded, formerly under county supervision.

The board also set for board approval a summer schedule from June 26 to July 3 for special education classes, according to Dick West, curriculum coordinator.

The educational services committee last night authorized Lawrence A. Lindberg, director of instruction, to explore further a proposal to the board to apply for federal funds to establish an adult literacy program in Marin.

The administrative services committee, which usually meets on the third Monday of each month, will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight instead, as a quorum was not available yesterday.

Hub Homeowners Demand Action On Highway 17

Sequoia Park - Hilldale Homeowners Association in San Anselmo last night called on the county board of supervisors to "stop stalling" and immediately ask the state to change the designation of Highway 17 extension from freeway to nonfreeway status.

Vote for the resolution was unanimous by 65 members at a meeting at Redhill School, reported Bart Benedict and Robert W. Corlett, co-chairmen.

The resolution reminded the board of supervisors that any change in the status of the proposed highway should be submitted by July 1 for consideration by the state legislature.

It also called on the board to reject a proposed $71,000, two-year study of Marin transportation facilities as merely a further delay in action on pressing transit problems.

Hub Teen Placed In Juvenile Hall

A juvenile, who admitted the theft of a pistol and two credit cards and joy-riding in a car to San Francisco, was placed in Juvenile Hall yesterday, San Anselmo police reported today.

Officers said the San Anselmo parents of the 16-year-old boy reported he was also beyond parental control. Police said the youth told them he took the .32 caliber pistol from the home of Joseph Ingrassia, 70 Karl Avenue, San Anselmo, last Thursday, then took the Ingrassia car to San Francisco to a party before returning the vehicle.

He also told officers he took the two credit cards from a mailbox in San Francisco, they said.

SUMMIT PROPOSAL

The Saigon government apparently was convinced the preliminary peace talks would start despite the squabbling, and Manila reports said South Vietnam had proposed a summit conference of nations fighting in Vietnam to formulate a common policy on the peace negotiations.

The Philippine presidential press office said South Vietnam suggested the summit talks take place "during or immediately after the exploratory talks between American and North Vietnamese (representatives) but before the actual peace negotiations are held."

Nhan Dan today quoted Johnson speaking in Des Moines, Iowa, July 1, 1966:

"If they will only let me know when and where...I will have my closest and most trusted associates at that time and at that place in a matter of hours. There needs only be a room and a table and people who are willing to talk to each other respectfully."

Said the Hanoi newspaper, "This statement is big sounding and allows no misunderstanding. Yet after making many such statements the Johnson administration now changes tunes.

"The U.S. refusal to make Phnom Penh or Warsaw the site for contacts between the two parties stems from its lack of goodwill," Nhan Dan said.

It said Washington "now gives one absurd reason after another" for rejecting Phnom Penh and Warsaw.

The United States was said to favor a more neutral, accessible site, such as New Delhi.

Nhan Dan said a buildup of U.S. troop strength in South Vietnam and continued bombing of North Vietnam is proof of U.S. ill will for talks.

Minor Injuries In Auto Collision

James Earl Flynn, 28, of 28 Sierra Avenue, San Anselmo, suffered face cuts and bruises about 3:15 p.m. yesterday when the car in which he was riding and a second automobile collided at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Belia Vista Avenue.

Police said Flynn was a passenger in a vehicle driven west on Sir Francis Drake by Robert Vernon Andrus, 24, of 1563 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. They said the Andrus vehicle struck the rear of a car also driven west on Sir Francis Drake by Marcia T. Piombo, 34, of 35 Rockridge Road, Fairfax.

Flynn declined medical treatment, officers said. Andrus was cited for following too closely and for having defective brakes, they added.

Must Answer On Gun Charges

Harold Dean Arrasmith, 32, of San Rafael, was held to answer on a charge of being a felon in possession of an concealable gun after a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court today.

Arrasmith, of 192 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, allegedly fired a revolver in the apartment of a friend at the same address. Officers said he had a .32 caliber revolver in his pocket when arrested.

Arrasmith was on probation from a felony conviction of statutory rape and was placed on probation for the offense.

Antifire Doors Law Is Proposed

All homes in the Terra Linda Community Services District will be required to have self-closing, solid-core doors between the garage and living quarters, the district board of directors decided last night.

Directors instructed Fire Chief George A. Walser to work with the county counsel to draft an ordinance requiring the safety measure within a year.

Directors recommended Hubert F. Cooper, a civil engineer with the State Division of Highways, be named to the board to succeed Patrick H. Martin, who moved from the county. The recommendation will go to the county board of supervisors.

Directors also authorized the fire chief to install safety belts on the back of the fire trucks at a cost of about $200.

Reasons For Firing Head Of Chamber

The executive committee of the Novato Chamber of Commerce board of directors today released a statement of its reasons for firing Donald Loegering, chamber manager on April 3.

The statement issued by president Jack Kinney listed these complaints by the committee:

"Failure to take directions in his position as chamber manager; insubordination, an open and resentful attitude toward officers of the executive committee; and his personal financial problems which the executive committee declined to make public."

After Loegering's firing, Alfred W. Bowman, past president of the chamber circulated a petition calling for an open general membership meeting.

This is required if 10 per cent of the membership ask for it under chamber by-laws. Bowman's petition had 33 signatures when 25 are required.

These signatures are being checked today and a board meeting will be called probably next Monday to set the time and place for the general meeting, Kinney said.

Minor Injuries To Postmaster's Son In Collision

James Paul Fahy, 13, son of San Anselmo Postmaster and Mrs. John F. Fahy, 80 Monterey Avenue, suffered minor head cuts when the bicycle he was riding and a car driven by Dorothy Kathleen Durham, 18, of 54 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo, collided at the intersection of San Anselmo and Mariposa avenues.

Police said young Fahy, a student at St. Anselm's School, was apparently making a left turn onto San Anselmo Avenue at 7:20 p.m. Miss Durham, traveling south on San Anselmo Avenue, told police the bicycle had no lights and she didn't see the youth until the bike was before her vehicle.

The boy was treated at Marin General Hospital and returned home. No citation was issued.

Care Center Approved

Members of the Marin County Health Facilities Planning Commission last night approved the new 72-bed extended care and rehabilitation unit of Ross General Hospital, according to Louise Esch, staff member for the commission.

The unit, which is due to be completed about July 1, will be located across the street from the hospital.

Also approved by the commission was a 23-bed addition to Novato General Hospital.

Commission members postponed action on the request of Center Medical Hospital for an additional 52-bed unit and a rehabilitation program until the May 20 meeting.

Would-Be Span Leaper Seized

A 22-year-old San Francisco man was taken off the Golden Gate Bridge by officers today as they feared he might attempt to jump.

Bridge Sgt. Russell Gordier told California Highway patrolmen that he saw Theodore McConnaughey walking in the lane next to the east sidewalk, near the south tower, at 12:10 a.m. and that he ignored a call from the radio of a bridge truck.

Taken into custody, he appeared "sleepy and drugged," according to officers and told them that the "town was against him all day" and he had marital trouble so he'd "better jump and end it all." He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Discussion Set On Letter Grades

The Reporting to Parents Committee of the Mill Valley School District will meet with parents at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Edna Maguire School, 80 Lomita Drive, to discuss the district's progress reporting system.

Some parents in the district have criticized steps taken this year to supplant the letter grade and report card system.

Supt. James A. Collins has agreed to meet May 7 with one critical group, the Concerned Parents for Education. Time and place of the meeting have not been announced.

TV Set Stolen

A portable television set valued at $150 was stolen from her house while she was on vacation, Susan Nairn of 215 Marlin Avenue told Mill Valley police yesterday.

COLLEGE

meeting of the Student Government Workshop.

"We, as interested students have gone this far," Tuttle said. "We have made our decision to back the faculty in their resolution and now we look to the students for their backing of the petition."

Tuttle announced a students' assembly for expression of protest at 12:30 p.m. Thursday on the Harlan Hall lawn near Ramstad's office. Ramstad and Mrs. Elizabeth Deedy, president of college trustees, have been invited to speak, he said.

The trustees met in closed session Thursday to discuss the faculty complaints and issued a statement Friday which criticized Ramstad for "errors of judgment of considerable magnitude," but said the trustees themselves and the faculty also were to blame for the present split.

The trustees asked Ramstad for a policy of faculty involvement and administrative responsibility, procedures for recruitment and assignment of professional personnel and an organizational chart for the Kentfield campus and Marin Junior College District operations.

In his letter to students, Tuttle said: "Through representatives to faculty committees, our student government is meaningful and effective. We still have representatives to the faculty committees; we still have a vote on these committees, but what good are these representatives; what good are these committees when Dr. Ramstad previously screens the issues presented to the committees?"

Ramstad reacted thus today to the ASCOM newspaper:

"I think that any college institution involved in growth and expansion has a certain number of growing pains and the College of Marin is no exception. My hope is that all the various groups can eventually come together so that the junior college program in the county can meet enrollment and program requirements in the future."

He said Friday's statement by trustees "stated the case fairly and accurately."

BUS

Doug Briggs, 16, of 818 Rincon Way; Andy Delfino, 15, of 44 Oxford Drive; Leslie Wardlaw, 15 of 41 Cushing Drive; Irene Laufer, 15, of 25 Roosevelt Avenue; Bob Kitchen, 14, of 36 Edward Avenue; Vickie Donnelly, 14, of 636 Gallerita Avenue; Kim Colvin, 15, of 137 Holmes Avenue; Heather Purves, 14, of 50 Oxford Drive; Ginger Baich, 16, of 16 Cushing Avenue, and Ram Arnsburger, 16, of 166 Madison Avenue.

Brakes on the van, used to haul supplies from the county schools office, failed as it went down the hill from the Civic Center to North San Pedro Road, reported the driver, Mrs. Jean Bean, 52, of 146 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera. It smashed into the loaded school bus.

The county schools vehicles are maintained by the county garage in San Rafael. Mario Balestreri, in the public works department at the Civic Center, is in charge of the garage. He could not be reached today for comment. An employee at the garage declined to say anything regarding safety inspection of the vehicles.

When the van hit the bus, the emergency door on the school bus flew open. A safety chain across it snapped — because, according to an investigating highway patrolman, it was secured with a soft alumnium hook that would take less than 100 pounds stress. The five students tumbled out through the open door.

The California Highway Patrol makes annual safety inspections of school buses. The bus had been recently inspected.

Lt. William H. Porter of the highway patrol said the safety chain was not required, but apparently was something added by the San Rafael schools.

However, Charles L. Condrotte, business manager of San Rafael schools, said the safety chain was original equipment on the bus, which was purchased between three and four years ago from Ames Ford Sales. He said he understood such a safety chain was required by state law.

The San Rafael schools do their own maintenance on the buses, but safety inspections are by the highway patrol.

Special Meeting Set

The Novato Fire District commissioners will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the main fire station to discuss the proposed plans for the training facilities and drill tower at the new station on Atherton Avenue, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

High School Vandalized In San Rafael

Vandals entered five departments of San Rafael High School over the weekend, throwing books around the floor, prying open cabinets, painting words on the walls and stealing property, police reported today.

The damage was discovered yesterday by janitor Ralph A. Layman. He reported entry was made in three parts of the school, principally by breaking windows.

Books were scattered around the audio visual room and several audio machines disturbed. Ink was thrown on the walls of the head custodian's room and the student store.

Drawers were opened in the foreign languages department and in the art room, all cabinets were pried open and the contents moved.

Stolen from this room, said police, were a radio, worth $40, a $20 air cleaner and a large amount of paints of the type used in light shows.

Police also reported a car belonging to the school was vandalized in the maintenance yard and had its generator, radiator and four wheels stolen.

Tomales Teacher Salary Retained, But Study Set

The Tomales Bay Joint Union School District Board last night adopted the current schedule of salaries for teachers for next school year, according to Supt. David Raffo.

The board then agreed to consider increasing the scale when working on the budget in June, Raffo said. The present pay scale starts at $5,600 and goes to $10,400, according to Raffo

After a closed meeting on hiring teachers, the board in open meeting offered to renew all of the contracts for all the personnel in the district, Raffo said.

Raffo was authorized to get a price quotation from Speedspace of Santa Rosa for one more portable classroom for next school year and report back to the board as soon as possible.

The trustees discussed the possibility of hiring teacher aids and a full time secretary for next school year, but took no action on these items, Raffo said.

Biting Sausalito Monkey Is Shot

Somewhere in Sausalito, someone is sitting by the window waiting for his pet monkey to come home.

He can forget it. The monkey died Sunday, shot out of a tree by a Sausalito policeman after efforts to capture it or shoot it with tranquilizer darts failed.

At 8:30 Sunday morning, the monkey appeared on the patio at 2 Bulkley Avenue, where Gerda Meyers of that address was sitting. When she reached to pet the animal, it bit her finger and fled.

Police and humane society officers tried to capture the monkey, but it stayed out of range. Finally it was shot so laboratory tests could show if it was diseased.

Airport Relations Will Be Explored

Improved public relations to keep people informed about Marin County's airport north of Novato will be discussed tomorrow night by the Marin County Aviation Commission.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. in the board of supervisors' chambers at Civic Center.

Other items on the agenda include a report by Commissioner Benjamin R. Ostlind on a proposed parallel runway at Hamilton Air Force Base and reports by Airport Manager Francis E. Torr on construction progress and future plans at the county airport.

TV Firm Reports Amplifier Taken

Theft of a new $309 tuner-amplifier from Red Hill Television Electronics, 862 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, was reported today by San Anselmo police.

Larry M. Brown, manager, told officers he was on the telephone at the store's rear about 7 p.m. yesterday when the item was removed from a front room display area.

Brown said a young man described as having sandy colored hair and weighing about 160 pounds, and a dark-complexioned woman companion had been in the store minutes before the theft. He said he believed the man returned and made the theft.

WAR

The four downed planes raised to 825 the number of American aircraft reported lost over North Vietnam.

The last time as many as four U. S. aircraft were reported downed in a single day was Oct. 27.

The spokesmen said American jets flew 88 missions against North Vietnam yesterday. All strikes hit below the 19th parallel, northernmost target point allowed under Johnson's limited bombing order, designed to fetch Hanoi to the negotiation table.

Observers said the North Vietnamese may have moved more guns from the south to below the 19th parallel to beef up defenses during the limited bombing, hence yesterday's heavy flack.

In Saigon, government spokesmen said that last week the Communists suffered their heaviest casualties in a month—3,071 killed. They put South Vietnamese losses last week at 293 men killed, 985 wounded and 32 missing. U.S. losses will be announced Thursday.

U.S. military sources disclosed yesterday that American troops are being pulled out of the once-threatened Marine base at Khe Sanh just below the North Vietnam border. In their place will go a more "mobile" defense of the area. At the same time, U.S. spokesmen said the army which two weeks ago helped break a siege of the fort had turned back to the Marines operational control of the Khe Sanh district.

Musician Unable To Keep Date To Hear Charges

Norman Augustus Baciti, 22-year-old Mill Valley drummer, was charged with resisting a police officer in Marin Municipal Court yesterday, but missed his arraignment.

Baciti, who allegedly stole a car in Golden Gate Park Sunday and zipped through the Bay and San Rafael-Richmond bridges without paying, was in Napa State Hospital.

Baciti, who reportedly told police he was on an STP trip, tore up a mattress and a pillow in the padded cell at Marin County jail early yesterday and was transferred to the hospital.

His alleged crime in Marin was to slam a car door against the head of a California Highway Patrol officer who had stopped him, then speed off down Third Street, San Rafael, at 80 miles per hour.

Baciti, a drummer with the Natural Forces band, lost control of the car on Santa Margarita Drive and went up a grass embankment. The CHP arrested him there.

Garage Looted Of Golf Clubs

San Anselmo police today reported two burglaries, one netting about $400 in loot including a set of golf clubs.

Ralph J. Boccabella, 317 Greenfield Avenue, told officers someone entered his unlocked garage yesterday, taking the $250 set of clubs, two tires and wheels worth $75, and a $75 ski jacket.

Mrs. Charlean Berg, 1225 San Anselmo Avenue, reported early today that someone climbed through her unlocked bathroom window while she was away. Stolen was a 17-inch television set. No value estimate was made.

Deputies Report Three Old Thefts

Thieves stole a vacuum cleaner and attachments worth $336.50 from the car of George Morris Stiveson, parked in front of his apartment at 507 Northern Avenue, Homestead Valley, Wednesday night, according to a report filed by sheriff's deputies today.

Burglars also broke open a pay telephone outside the Fireside Motel in Manzanita Sunday night and stole the money box, officers said.

A burglar crept into Dana S. Luce's garage at 806 Hacienda Way, Santa Venetia, Sunday and stole a table radio worth $150, they said.

Sleeping Bags Taken

Two sleeping bags valued at $31 were stolen from his car parked outside his home, Arthur S. Robinson of 376 Edgewood Avenue told Mill Valley police yesterday.

Lantern Stolen

A camping lantern valued at $12 was stolen from her garage yesterday, Judy M. Ballora of 173 Magee Avenue told Mill Valley police.

Novato Funds Asked To Plan Work On Park

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission last night voted to ask the city council to spend $3,250 for first stage planning of Pioneer Memorial Park and the Novato Creek park.

The design would be made by landscape architects Ribera and Sue..

The first phase for Pioneer Memorial Park would be for turfing, rest room design, the lagoon, spray and wading pool. The first phase would take three years to develop, but no cost estimate was made, according to Mrs. Shirley Lane, commission secretary.

Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, recommended that the commission request city officials to investigate the possible use of the San Marin Club for the city recreation program. This would be either on a lease or purchase basis from Sunset International Petroleum Corp., Mrs. Lane reported.

The commission postponed action on its annual review of the parks master plan, Mrs. Lane reported.

Wallet, Weapons Taken From Cars

Property was stolen from two cars parked in San Rafael yesterday, reported police.

A shotgun and an automatic pistol, total value $370, were taken from a car which John Charles Brunk of 38 Grove Lane, San Anselmo parked at 1022 E Street.

Reported missing from a car belonging to Ralph J. Boccabelle of 317 Greenfield Avenue was a wallet containing $82 in cash. He had parked it at Francisco and Bellam Boulevards.

Project 17 Approval Paves Way For School

The Mill Valley School District board last night approved the Project 17 agreement with the City of Mill Valley, clearing the way for construction of a middle school and joint recreational facilities at Project 17, Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue.

The city council approved the agreement two weeks ago. The school district will get the city's Project 17 land in exchange for the district's 11-acre Enchanted Knolls site. The school district will also buy a 3.6 acre parcel adjoining Project 17, and the city later will buy marshland owned by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and another parcel owned by the Biggio family to complete the park-recreation area.

Meeting at Homestead School, the board approved plans for another four classrooms and a multi-purpose room at Homestead, to be housed in a semi-permanent building. The semi-permanent construction will cost approximately $130,000 compared to $180,000 if conventional permanent construction were used, the board was told.

Portable classrooms now at Homestead will be moved elsewhere in the district.

The board approved guideline on student dress recommended by the Parent-Teachers Association Council. The guideline, which is not an official policy, says "it has been customary in Mill Valley for girls to wear dresses or skirts, and the P-TA council suggests that the custom be continued, unless for practical reasons or special occasions another type dress would be appropriate.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

BUDGET—Postponed discussion of the preliminary 1968-9 budget to a meeting at 8:30 p.m. Monday at Park School.

SUMMER SCHOOL—Learned that the van Loben Sels Foundation Oakland has granted $15,850 for the joint Mill Valley-Sausalito summer school program. The money will pay salaries for a summer school director and 50 student aides, and provide transportation from Sausalito and outlying parts of Mill Valley to classes at Alto and Edna Maguire schools.

SALARY — Approved a teacher salary schedule of $600 for the 21-day summer school.

NEW TEACHERS—Hired nine teachers for 1968-9. They are Mrs. Amil St. Augustine, $8,577; John H. Rojas, $8,367; Marjorie Elfrig, $6,090; William Deprado, Louise Buckens and James Derich, $7,212 each; Howard Harrison, $7,596; Rhoda Brassfield, $8,016, and Dennis Hasslinger, $9,312.

RESIGNATION—Accepted the resignation of Karen L. Peterson, Old Mill teacher who has been on leave and is taking a job in Germany.

CLOSED MEETING—Took no action at a closed meeting to discuss continued employment of a teacher in the district.

NDEA PROJECTS—Approved plans for three National Defense Education Act projects, for which matching funds will now be sought. The projects are audio-visual, video tape and textbooks for history, science and reading classes.

Fairfax Council To Seat Officers

A new mayor and vice mayor will be chosen by the Fairfax City Council at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Recently elected Councilmen Francis J. O'Connell and Cornelis Van Vliet will be sworn into office tonight, replacing Mayor George A. Pagni and Peter R. Arrigoni, who did not seek re-election.

Mayor Pagni, who made an unsuccessful bid for the job of city treasurer held by Dorothy A. McGlothin, has asked that "job description for city treasurer" be placed on the agenda.

Novatans Plan Civic Cleanup Campaign

Novato will hold a community cleanup campaign, it was decided last night by the Novato Beautification Committee at its second meeting in the office of the city manager.

Mrs. Gail Wilhelm was named chairman of the campaign. She is to plan it with the city staff and report to the committee's next meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday, according to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget.

Lawrence A. Coleman, public works director, gave the committee a summary of laws such as the grading and tree planting ordinances which were aimed at the preservation of the city's beauty, Baget reported.

Charles Foster, finance director, reported that it was harder to pinpoint city expenditure for beautification. Some of it is hidden, such as the maintenance of the center planting strips on Highway 101 were easy to point out, he said according to Baget.

Committee members Mrs. Wilhelm, Mrs. Margaret Coady, Mrs. Ernestine Barnwell and Richard Burgi, said that they would attend a beautification and litter control conference at noon April 24 at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in San Francisco, Baget said.

Dinner Session

The north bay chapter of the Engineers and Grading Contractors Association will hold a general membership dinner meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Cloud Five, Grant Avenue and First Street, Novato. Fred Brumm of the Contractors State License Board will speak. A no-host cocktail hour will start at 7 p.m.

Demo Governors To Remain Silent On Candidate Picks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With most of the nation's Democratic governors content to sit the fence for awhile, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy looks for the nomination contest to be a three-way race right down to convention time.

The Minnesota presidential contender offered that assessment in Washington yesterday as 16 of the 24 Democratic governors were reaching agreement at St. Louis to observe events in coming months "and then reach a decision of conscience" independently.

McCarthy, taking a day off from campaigning prior to a West Virginia swing today, told reporters he felt he would be strong in a showdown with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey because he would attract independents, "crossover Republicans" and the academic community.

The St. Louis conference was regarded in advance by some as an attempt to keep the nomination open for Humphrey, whose candidacy is expected soon. Only one refused to go along with the agreement, John Bell Williams of Mississippi, who said: "The statement says nothing."

In other developments:

Robert F. Kennedy—Campaigning for Indiana's May 7 primary, the New York senator called for a "national impact project" to put men to work and give the ghetto resident a feeling that the nation is committed to the fulfillment of his hopes."

Kennedy will be in California on Friday with stops scheduled for Fresno, Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco, according to Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, RFK's California chairman.

On another Kennedy front, the governor's office in Charleston, W. Va., says a campaign worker for the senator threatened "political vengeance" because state police were not assigned to the New Yorker's motorcade during a tour of the southern part of the state last weekend.

On the Republican side, a top aide to Richard M. Nixon today said a challenge from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the GOP presidential nomination would "liven things up" and revive interest in the Republican convention.

Baar Coffee Set

A "coffee meeting" for Louis H. Baar, candidate for county supervisor from the Fourth District, will be held at Bolinas Rod and Gun Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow with Archie A. Goldsberry of Bolinas as host.

There's something very important you should always leave with the babysitter besides the baby. Always leave a telephone number where you can be reached. Include a list of emergency numbers too. By the way, a special space for emergency numbers, like Fire, Police and Doctor, is printed on the inside of the front cover of your directory. Jot those numbers down today. Then, next time you're out for the evening, they'll be in the book.

More Contact Held A Cure For Law Ills

"The great majority of Americans want more effective law enforcement, but, unfortunately, police officers spend most of their time with the minority which does not."

This view was expressed last night by Charles R. Stewart Jr., vice president of the Bank of America, at a dinner of the Marin County Peace Officers Association.

"The very people who need police protection the most are the ones who have the worst attitude toward law officer," Stewart said.

SUPPORT ASKED

Stewart also maintained that support from the part of the community which has little contact with police, such as suburban housewives and other law-abiding citizens, would do much to improve the law enforcement situation.

He described a crusade in Indianapolis, Ind., by 60,000 women who won pay hikes for policemen in an anti-crime drive, drive.

Citing increase in the crime rate in all areas of the country as well as growing strife from civil disorders and riots, Stewart said that in addition to these two problems, police officers face lack of support from the courts.

"Weakness in handling repeated offenders" was blamed by Stewart on "turn-stile justice" in which convicted criminals are either turned out on parole or acquitted. "Few, if any, criminals can be rehabilitated," Stefart maintained, asking for tougher treatment by courts of repeat offenders.

"An alarming and worsening police shortage" is due to low pay and high risk which are the policeman's fate, Stewart said.

WAGES TOO LOW

"We simply must pay police officers a living wage," he added.

Stewart, who is in charge of advertising for the Bank of America, said that he became interested in law enforcement problems when former Gov. Edmund G. Brown appointed him to head a traffic safety committee.

Meeting with the peace officers last night were members of the International Footprinters Association, a group of law officers and supporters.

Belvedere Wrestles Fire Main Expenses

A hearing by the Belvedere City Council last night made little progress on controversial fire main installations except to reschedule a committee meeting of protesting residents with a council member.

Only six citizens showed up this time, compared with 40 at the first hearing on March 26, but they insisted the majority protest should stand against the special assessment district for mains to be installed on Cliff, Crest and Eucalyptus roads.

COST SPLIT ISSUE

Haskell Titchell of 30 Eucalyptus Road told councilmen, "No one questions the cost, but how it should be spread." He said that if a fire could become an island catastrophe, then fire protection was of general interest and this should be reflected in the assessment cost, with the city paying a larger share than the planned 15 per cent.

The project's cost has been estimated at $63,000 with the city putting up $9,860 and the assessment to property owners $53,140.

Lloyd M. Tweedt of 32 Eucalyptus Road, accused the city of spending "a lot of money without knowing where it was going."

TREE HAZARD

Titchell said that according to Fire Chief Lawrence T. Mersereau the eucalyptus trees on the island are highly inflammable and he thought the council should take a look at the entire problem of fire hazard. "What good is a fire hydrant if my neighbor's eucalyptus trees catch fire?"

William P. Gage of 12 Eucalyptus Road reminded the council it had promised to hold a committee meeting before the hearing and apparently had not done so.

Mayor John S. Moore appointed Gage and Tweedt along with Robert S. Ingram of 15 Crest Road and Peter O. Knowles of 16 Cliff Road, to work with Councilman Thomas S. Price on a compromise solution and report back to the regular meeting at 8 p.m. on May 6 in the Community Center.

The council approved a written agreement from the Home and Land Co. to move a real estate office temporarily to a triangular piece of land at Mar West and Tiburon Boulevard, which the city has been hoping to swap with Tiburon.

Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel said that Tiburon was protected "as well as Belvedere is" in case either city wanted the building moved off the land, which is owned by Fred elinsZky of Belvedere.

Later in the meeting Deputy City Atty. Robert Mackay was directed to proceed with the proposed trade of land with Tiburon, for seven houses at the entrance to Belvedere which were drawn within Tiburon's boundary on the map.

STACKING LANES

The council approved a resolution introduced by Dreschel to ask the division of highways to establish more stacking lanes on Tiburon Boulevard "wherever possible" like the one below Stewart Drive. The resolution suggested the intersections of Hawthorne Terrace, Avenida Miraflores and San Rafael Avenue for consideration.

The council adjourned to 6:30 a.m. today to canvass votes from the April 9 municipal election, instead of 7:30 p.m. as originally planned, as it was a more convenient time.

Price Elected Belvedere Mayor

An earlybird Belvedere City Council meeting today unanimously elected Thomas S. Price as its mayor, succeeding John R. Moore.

In the meeting set last night for 6:30 a.m. to have a quorum present, councilmen also unanimously elected Mrs. Sally Mathews vice mayor.

David W. Allen, co-owner of the Belvedere Land Co., acted as a witness to the ceremony as the three incumbent councilmen re-elected — Price, Edwin J. Drechsel and Merritt S. Ruddock & were sworn in by City Clerk William L. Cavalli.

The council also adopted a resolution certifying the 158 votes of the April 9 municipal election, of which Drechsel and Price received 142 each and Ruddock 32.

Of the write-in votes, there was one for Robert Bastian, two for G. Roger Felton and one for Leonard M. Sperry Jr.

The meeting adjourned at 6:50 a.m.

California's first major oil field was discovered in 1866 at Santa Paula in Ventura County.

Newspapers Merger Bill Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The so-called Failing Newspapers Bill, which would give newspapers a limited exemption from antitrust laws, ran into stiff opposition today from the Johnson Administration.

The Justice Department said it would rather see a newspaper fold than permit it to fix prices and share profits with a competitor.

COMPETITION LACKING

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said the measure would unduly restrict competition for the advertising dollar and would tempt publishers to merge their facilities when they do not need to.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, the Justice Department's antitrust chief, and FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon opposed the bill in testimony prepared for delivery before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee.

For the last year, the subcommittee has been studying legislation which would permit competing newspapers to merge their printing, advertising and circulation activities, if one of them is in danger of closing.

'NEW ENTRY'

But Turner said if a paper "is not attractive and useful enough to merit the financial support of the public" it might be preferable for it to go out of business, since this would "open the market to new entry."

Turner said the department certainly would rather see two editorial voices in a city than one and "to the extent that this goal can be accomplished by newspapers pooling their production and distribution facilities, it is clearly preferable to a full merger.

"But this legislation is not needed to allow that sort of cooperation," he said. "The bill is needed only if price fixing and profit pooling agreements are to be allowed."

Dixon warned that, under the bill, metropolitan newspapers might be tempted to enter into exempted joint arrangements with hundreds of thousands of weekly and bi-weekly suburban and local newspapers that are a "thorn in the side" of the dailies because they drain off lucrative advertising dollars.

About 200 tribes speaking more than 100 dialects make up the Congo's 15.9 million population.

'Tax Backlash' Cited To Aid Withholding

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Republican assemblyman banked today on a "tax backlash" to help win legislative support for payroll withholding of state income taxes — a system opposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto said there is a "real desire for withholding right now" — the day after the April 15 deadline for paying the increased state income tax without penalty.

BILLS TRIPLED

Many taxpayers found their bills double or triple the previous year's and had to dip into savings or borrow to come up with the tax payment.

The Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, which Veneman heads, is scheduled to hold a hearing on his withholding bill tomorrow afternoon.

Veneman and other key legislators suggested withholding to Reagan, during a meeting two weeks ago, as the logical way out of a deepening state financial dilemma. There was no indication the Republican governor was relaxing his steadfast opposition, Veneman said.

Veneman's withholding plan would be similar to the federal one, with employers deducting part of the tax from checks each pay period.

WRONG IMPRESSION

Veneman told a reporter Monday some persons have the impression withholding is "another tax."

"If we can put across the idea that nobody pays any more, then I think that attitude will change," he said.

Reagan's alternative has been to suggest a type of "Christmas club" savings plan, coupled with voluntary payroll deductions, to avoid the burden of paying the full tax at one time.

He also has proposed that the state income tax return be a "carbon copy" of the federal return. The taxpayer then merely would figure his state tax as a percentage of the federal payment.

A proposed constitutional amendment to permit the legislature to establish such a system was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach. It was one of about 400 pieces of legislation submitted in the Aessembly and Senate yesterday as legislators rushed to beat a today midnight deadline for unrestricted introduction of bills.

Bishop Calls For Catholic Schools To Change Goals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The president of the National Catholic Educational Association urged his group yesterday to take on the responsibility of changing American society for the better.

Bishop Ernest J. Primeau of Manchester, N.H., said the time has come for Catholic education to shift its primary aim away from helping the immigrant adapt himself to American society.

Instead, he said, it must become a "dynamic agent for bringing about change" in that society. The bishop named poverty, violence and racism as the main targets.

"Catholic education must become the cutting edge of the church's effort to serve the world," said Bishop Primeau in his opening address to 1,200 delegates at the NCEA's sixth annual convention.

Bagley Supporting Unruh For Postmaster General

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Democratic speaker Jesse M. Unruh as been nominated—in jest—by his colleagues to be postmaster general.

Several lawmakers yesterday sported red, white and blue campaign buttons distributed by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, reading "unruh for Postmaster General."

Bagley said an unidentified aide to another legislator gave him the buttons.

The postmaster generalship usually is awarded to a close advisor or supporter of a successful presidential contender. Unruh of Inglewood is chairman of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's California presidential campaign.

In a humorous speech, Unruh told the Assembly he once supported Bagley as the Republican Party's presidential nominee.

"I'm not very impressed with his rather niggardly return on my investment," he said. "The next time I'll suggest you run for vice president along with your governor."

His reference was to speculation that Gov. Ronald Reagan may be selected the GOP vice presidential candidate.

"I'm not very impressed by his view," Bagley said in return, "Postmaster general is the highest post that I could appoint you to."

However, lawmakers who wore the buttons ran into a rules violation that prohibits the wearing of political campaign materials and displaying it in their offices.

"I would ask that the members refrain from wearing campaign buttons in the (capitol) building, especially while on the Assembly floor," said Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves D-La Mirada, chairman of the Rules Committee.

Equal Wages Bill Changed By Senators

SACRAMENTO (AP) — To get around the state's "equal pay for equal work" law, an employer now can reduce a man's wages to the lower scale he wants to pay women, says Sen. George R. Grunsky.

Grunsky won 23-14 passage by the Senate yesterday for a bill rewording the equal pay law to counteract this possible practice.

The present law requires women to be paid no less then men in the same job. The revision carried by Grunsky, R-Watsonville, says no employee shall be paid less than one of the opposite sex and no wages can be cut to comply with equal pay laws.

"This is a man's bill, then?" asked Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco. "It has that curious incidental effect, yes," Grunsky replied.

Quintuplets Born To Farmer, Wife

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Quintuplets were born yesterday to a 35-year-old farmer's wife in the East Azerbaijan village of Lalan, the newspaper Kayhan reported to day.

The newspaper said the woman, Zahra, and her 45-year-old husband, Mohammed, were married last year.

Mother and babies — three boys and two girls — were reported to be doing well.

Senate Votes College Board Requirements

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Senators have voted for tighter legislative control over state college trustees, but a similar move against University of California regents is stymied by lack of votes.

After short debate and on a unanimous vote, the Senate sent to the Assembly yesterday a bill requiring the governor's appointees to the college board to first get a two-thirds vote of confirmation from the upper house.

No confirmation is required at present.

The measure was in a package proposed recently by a special Senate committee which investigated the staging of a play called "The Beard" at Fullerton State College. The senators said allowing the play, showed the need for tougher control over college authorities and trustees.

Members of the special committee also had endorsed a constitutional amendment cutting into the U.C. Board of Regents power.

The measure's author, Sen. H.L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, asked that it be sent back to committee, and this was granted. It takes a two-thirds vote to clear the Senate because the measure is a constitutional revision, and Richardson indicated he just didn't have the votes.

The bill dealing with the trustees needed only the usual majority of 21.

Jail Time On Burglary Count

Steven Wayne Mitchell, 18, of San Rafael, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and placed on three years of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for a burglary and concealing stolen property.

Mitchell pleaded guilty to stealing more than 200 keys from the Coca Cola factory in San Rafael and concealing a stolen cigarette machine and several auto tires in his apartment.

Judge Harold J. Haley ordered that Mitchell make $70 restitution to the soft drink firm.

Crime-Fighting Legislation Still Remains A Big Issue

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Major decisions on the way to prevent crime still face the legislators nearly two years after Gov. Ronald Reagan rolled to a million vote plurality, partly on a promise to do something about the state's rising crime rate.

Narcotics penalties, capital punishment, the multimillion dollar smut business, wire tapping and the drunken driver—all these questions once more are before the legislature this year.

OBSCENE MATERIAL

Reagan's Republican administration is making another run at the thorny problem of keeping obscene material out of the hands of minors while trying to avoid censorship of what an adult chooses to read or view.

The Senate again has passed two pornography measures. One defines a new standard for determining "harmful matter" for minors and makes it a misdemeanor to sell such material to juveniles. A second allows a prosecutor to inquire into the motives of a distributor of alleged obscene material. It would permit convictions for pandering such materials commercially for profit.

Despite the support of Reagan and Democratic Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, the bills face an uncertain future in the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee—a group where half the members are strongly committed to a liberal view of individual civil rights. The committee has been a graveyard of prosecution - oriented measures in recent years.

ANNUAL PITCH

Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan, D-Los Angeles, has come up with his perennial bill to abolish the death penalty.

But on this issue, the lawmakers are marking time, awaiting the outcome of a California Supreme Court decision on a suit in behalf of two death row inmates challenging the constitutionality of the state capital punishment law.

McMillan's bill would set the maxmum punishment at life imprisonment with no possibility of parole.

Reagan supports the death penalty as a deterrent to crime but McMillan and his supporters say studies show the prospect of death has little effect on the criminal.

A study made for the Criminal Procedure Committee indicated penalties in themselves do not necessarily prevent crime. The study showed most people are ignorant of the prison sentences they could get by breaking the law.

Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle the chairman, said: "We now have the facts before us that indicate everybody is concerned with the crime increase.

"We also know that penalties do deter some people but with the public ignorance of penalties we must find new and effective ways to stem California's growing crime rate."

Biddle also has introduced legislation to correct what he calls "absurdities" in the present narcotics laws.

The measure would give judges discretion in sentencing an offender on his first charge of possession or use of marijuana. It would make penalties for possession of dangerous drugs uniform with those for marijuana.

Under present law, use and possession of marijuana is a felony but possession of LSD and methedrine—possibly more dangerous drugs—is only a misdemeanor.

A number of bills have been introduced calling for studies into the medical and psychological effects of narcotics. Other legislation under study asks for research and treatment clinics for drug users and making marijuana availabel for scientific research.

The legislature also is considering a measure supported by Reagan to permit wiretapping with a court's permission. It would permit eavesdropping over a 10-day period if a judge thought the electronic bugging necessary.

Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, wants to soften provisions of the state's "implied consent" law passed in 1966 after a bitter legislative battle.

The law now provides a six-month suspension of a driver's license if the motorist, suspected of drunken driving, refuses to take a sobriety test. The suspension is imposed even if the driver is later acquitted.

Wedworth's bill would require a suspension only if the driver who refused to take a blood, breath, or urine test, were later convicted of drunken driving.

Tumbling, Judo Courses Slated

Courses in tumbling for preschool children and judo for children from 6 to 14 years old will be offered starting this week by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department.

Each of the eight-week courses will start Thursday. Tumbling for children from 3 to 5 years old will be taught at 1:45 and 2:15 p.m. Judo classes will be at 3:45, 4:45 and 5:45 p.m. The classes will be taught by the Marin School of Self Defense.

Pupils can sign up in advance at the parks and recreation office.

Rec Panel Sets Budget Session

A 1968-69 budget will be discussed at the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Larkspur Parks and Recreation Commission at City Hall.

Robert C. Bundy, parks and recreation director, said a tentative budget totals about $12,000, but does not include the possible construction of four tennis courts at Piper Park. Current budget is $10,000, he said.

The commission also will hear a presentation by Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, of a proposed 250-acre park on East Corte Madera marshlands. Bundy said a portion of an access road would be within Larkspur's city limits.

Warehouse Building Permit Is On Agenda

Application of Peter Hunt of Gate 5, Sausalito, for permission to build a new warehouse and light manufacturing plant at 190 Tamal Vista is scheduled for the 7:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Corte Madera Board of Adjustments.

The board, which meets at Town Hall, also will consider applications of Roland Johnson, 69 Manderly Way, San Rafael, to build a two-story house at 168 Lakeside Drive; by Shell Oil Co., Millbrae, to build a canopy over gas pump islands at 516 Tamalpais Dix Drive and by the post office to build a new structure at 7 Pixley Avenue.

The governor of Puerto Rico gets an annual salary of $25,000.

Village Fair Set Thursday In Novato

An old-fashioned village fair with a wide variety of articles offered for sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

Sponsored by the Novato Senior Citizens and the Novato Parks and Recreation Department, the sale will feature unusual handicraft, white elephants, bakery goods and lunch stand.

Several local organizations will sponsor individual booths at the fair, the proceeds going to further the work of their organizations.

Organizations and the chairmen of their booths are: Donald V. Westlund, Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign War, Mrs. Grover C. Owen; Novato Tops, Mrs. James Shihadeh; St. Francis Episcopal Church Women, Mrs. David Walker; San Jose Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. Charles M. Dixon; Pacheco School Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. John C. Frank; North Bay Artists, Mrs. Eugene Rothschild; Novato Community Ambassadors, Mrs. Grant Morse; Terra Linda Senior Citizens, Mrs. Gladys Cryder; Loma Verde Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ, Mrs. Adolph Ardito; Santo Venetia Wives of the Young Men's Christian Association, Mrs. James L. Underhill, and the Novato Senior Citizens, Mrs. Robert Farrell, Mrs. William Bird, Mrs. Hattie Sparling and Mrs. George Hinkenkamp.

Nearly 50 per cent of all traffic fatalities occur while a driver is under the influence of alcohol, says the National Automobile Club.

Novato Dog Control Group Sets Session

The Citizens Committee for Dog Control will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the conference room at the Novato Savings and Loan at Grant Avenue and Fifth Street, Novato.

Representatives of the Marin County District Attorney's office and the Humane Society will provide information to the committee which is readying recommendations for presentation to the Novato City Council when it holds a public hearing on proposed revisions to the animal control ordinance at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Novato Community House, said Mrs. Mary M. Allen, chairman.

Veterinarian Finds Vietnam Role Busy One

PLEIKU, Vietnam (AP) — The young veterinarian just arrived from Kansas tilted back his chair and considered his patients—a platoon of dogs, a few monkeys, a couple of cats and one truculent bear.

It was grinned 24-year-old Roy Braum, hardly what he had expected when he graduated from Kansas State University's veterinary school and headed for Vietnam as an Army captain.

WEAK TEXT

Barely a month in Vietnam, the lanky farmboy from Denison rubbed his new red mustache and admitted his textbook education had been weak in such things as the treatment of bears.

He allowed, however, that it added excitement to his ordinary chores—the examination of meat and vegetables to make sure they are pure enough for GI stomachs, and the health of 30 sentry dogs.

Since the Army did away with the horse cavalry, veterinarians have largely been used to examine fresh foodstuffs.

The influx of combat dogs in recent years, however, has given them a new official task. And the American soldiers' penchant for picking up stray mascots will always make life interesting.

WORK ANIMALS

Sooner or later Braum will also get an elephant. Many are used as work animals by the tribesmen of the central highlands and the tribesmen have learned to turn to the U.S. Army when the beasts are off their feed.

For the moment, however, Braum concentrates on the health of the sentry dogs at his Pleiku base. The guard dogs get as much care from the vets as human soldiers get from their medics.

They are examined regularly, get a full range of shots and are evacuated to the big animal hospital in Saigon if they are wounded. They have medical histories, individual files and ear tattoos instead of dogtags.

Braum himself has a German shepherd as a pet. The dog is also a walking blood bank. Braum keeps him handy just in case a wounded dog comes in and needs a transfusion.

Dogs don't have blood types like humans, Braum explained. So his own pet could serve for any necessary transfusion, though the need hasn't yet arisen.

ONLY VET

At sprawling Camp Schmidt just outside the highlands capital of Pleiku, Braum is the only veterinarian for many miles. He stays with a bunch of helicopter pilots from the nearby evacuation hospital and takes his daily, dusty rounds in a battered truck left by his predecessor.

His dispensary is a quonset hut with a tiny examining table hardly adequate for a lively bear. Fortunately, the bear is a cub, perhaps six months old and weighing about 50 pounds. It belonged to some helicopter pilots.

Hamilton Contracts

A $68,900 contract was awarded today to Abbott Construction Co. of San Rafael to paint the exterior of Wherry Family Housing at Hamilton Air Force Base by the base procurement office. A $14,029 contract to paint the interior of various hospital buildings at the base was awarded to Howard Viera Construction Co. of Napa.

Tam Teachers Ask Greater Role In Education Program Dialogue

Teachers of Tamalpais High School District called on trustees to exercise "prudence and calm judgment" in the making of future decisions.

Apparently thrown by what was called "a variety of events" culminating in the postponement of a much-needed bond issue election, the teachers asked they be consulted in discussions affecting the educational program.

Apart from the scuttling of the bond issue, Raymond F. Kemper, president of the Tamalpais District Teachers' Association said staff had been an "uneasy observer" of two other matters:

The submission of information to the Independent-Journal ahead of its discussion at a public meeting and the frequent interruptions of an orderly process in the conduct of board meetings.

"We in the association are concerned about the direction and the possible detrimental effects of these activities upon our students and the overall educational program," said Kemper.

Matters in which teachers could play a vital role at the discussion stage, he cited, included priorities in budgeting, scheduling, plant usage and ancillary services.

The board duly noted the request. If the teachers had expected to generate dynamic decisions at this point, they were disappointed.

Trustee William B. Lewis asked how the teachers were to implement their request and Supt. Chester G. Carlisle said structure already existed for teacher participation. He suggested a special meeting to inform teachers about the upcoming budget.

Trustees spent considerable time repeating a discussion, first heard last month, on who should do a special audit to determine how much had been paid architects Gromme and Priestly for site work for the proposed high school in San Geronimo Valley.

Finally and in spite of opposition, the trustees found themselves back at the beginning with a decision to employ the same firm which undertook the annual audit but using a different member of the firm, Main Lafrentz and Co.

Henry Broderick, a citizen, asked why if it was found necessary to change the man, trustees didn't go all the way and change the firm this year?

Trustee Berton C. Jacobsen said there was value in keeping the same firm although it was common practice to change the principal from time to time.

Trustee Mrs. Joseph B. Wallace moved that the audit committee work with the same firm —different principal idea this year but look toward changing the format next year.

Main Lafreutz and Co. was also selected to do the 1967-68 school year audit at a cost of no more than $5,400.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

THEATER — Agreed to contribute about $600 toward the support of the Festival Theater, San Anselmo, for its contributions toward school English and drama programs.

TEEN-AGE MOTHERS — Agreed to continue home instruction for those in the district likely to be affected by the possible closing of the Teen-age Mothers Center program. The board also agreed to investigate widening this service.

HIRING — Voted to appoint George Thomas Janicula of Stockton to succeed Eunice E. Reader as director of pupil personnel services at a salary of $18,904. Janicula, 46, was formerly with the Lincoln Unified School District in Stockton. The board discussed going into closed session to talk over other applications for the job but declined because of lack of notice necessary by law.

TEACHERS — Hired the following teachers: Tam High School, Lawrence A. Leonard, matchematics, Gordon S. Millar, science and Hershel M. Tribbett, art; Redwood High School: J. D. Nichols, music and business education, Maria B. Van Buskirk, English and Stephen R. Holman, social studies. Salaries, unknown by either the board of the personnel involved, will be determined later on verification of the individual credits.

Pumper Team To State Contest

A four-man pumper team from the Marin County Association of Fire Departments will compete for a trophy at the California Rural Fire Protection Association convention in Salinas on April 27.

The Marin team is composed of Ralph Craven of Marinwood, captain; Kenneth Holyoem of Kentfield, engineer, and William Morris and Robert Lewis of Kentfield, hosemen. Capt. Robert Mariani of the Kentfield department is the coach.

They will compete against firemen from throughout the state in a contest to draw water out of a pit.

Chase Case Is Halted; Occurred In San Francisco

A San Francisco man arrested Feb. 13 for alleged hit-run driving after a chase from Marin City to the Golden Gate Bridge was cleared in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when it was learned the accident occurred in San Francisco.

Herman Guillory, 39, was booked by San Francisco police after his car reportedly sideswiped a northbound car driven by Peter R. Harris, 37, of 34 Corta Morada, Greenbrae.

The district attorney yesterday changed his complaint to place the offense in San Francisco County. Judge Hadden W. Roth sustained a challenge to the charge on the grounds that Marin has no jurisdiction.

At the time of the accident, Tommy C. Session, 39, of Vallejo, told the California Highway Patrol that Guillory had taken more than $200 from him in Marin City and driven away after a clash over a gambling debt.

Session gave chase and Guillory was arrested at the bridge toll booth.

Three Sausalito Firms Burgled

Three industrial buildings in Sausalito were broken into during the weekend, Sausalito police reported today.

Burglars broke a window to enter the Interbay Lumber Co. at Marinship, and stole $155 in cash, three bottles of liquor and a portable radio.

At George T. Gearhardt Co., Inc., Bridgeway and Nevada Street, burglars stole miscellaneous tools, $50 worth of stamps, four pounds of candy bars, change from a pried-open soft drink machine, and 24 payroll checks, numbered D-26101 through D-26124.

At Midstate Construction Co., 2630 Bridgeway, burglars entered through a window they broke and ransacked offices, but apparently took nothing.

4.5 Pct. Wage Hikes Go To School Execs

Administrative staff at Tamalpais High School District got a 4.5 per cent salary boost last night — but not before Trustee Mrs. Gloria Melbostad issued an appeal for the board to "draw the line."

The increases for the total of 31 administrative personnel will cost the district an additional $9,523 over last year's payroll.

There were two exceptions to the step up in salaries. The pay of Supt. Chester G. Carlisle remains at $27,500 and that of Oliver Bonner, director of maintenance and operations, has still to be determined.

Bonner's current $18,120 annual salary was the center of controversy earlier this month as to how it came to be that high. At issue was a $349-a-month granted Bonner March 7, 1966, and not recorded in minutes of that board meeting filed with the county schools office, but appearing as an addition to minutes in the Mill Valley district files.

Carlisle said the new administrative pay eschedule was consistent with the pay increase already granted teachers in the district. If the district earned the reputation of being a good payer of teachers, this should apply also to administrative personnel.

Mrs. Melbostad said she did not doubt for one minute the qualities of the administrators but the line on the upsweep of salaries must be drawn somewhere.

She said this was particularly appropriate when seven of the top administrators were drawing more than $20,000 a year. She was referring to the directors of instruction and business services, the three school principals, the assistant superintendent and the district superintendent.

Board president Dr. John C. Siemens said the inflationary trend had been going on for 30 years and there was no reason to believe that this year would see a levelling off.

"I do not think the increase is out of line," he said. "Ten years ago we would have been aghast at the thought of teachers getting $10,000 a year yet look at them now."

Mrs. Melbostad said she was all in favor of teachers getting $20,000 a year but she was concerned that unless a halt was called, needs of the education system could suffer."

Lack Of Quorum

Yesteray's scheduled meeting of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce directors was cancelled for lack of a quorum.

Driver Fined $230

William Becker Houwer, 29, of San Francisco, was fined $230 and placed on probation for six months in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for driving while drunk on Highway 101 April 2, when the California Highway Patrol arrested him.

What would your wife say if you came home with an Olds tonight?

You've probably been talking new cars. So it's mainly the fact that it's an Olds she'll be reacting to, right? So . . .

If she's the practical type, she'll blow a gasket. Because she thinks an Olds is more car than you were planning to buy.

You'll have to talk fast and make the point that this Cutlass cost less than many of the low-priced "names" you looked at.

Now, if she's the emotional type she won't care about details. She'll take one look at Cutlass and kiss you. Then she'll look at that plush Cutlass interior, and kiss you again.

Either way, you'll be a hero tonight.

It's Time To Plan Rover's Vacation

By DOROTHY NEWELL

As vacation time is just around the corner and Marinites are on the go from one part of the country to the other, what happens to the family pet?

Kennels and pet shops, of course, are the answer if you don't have a relative or friend with whom to leave your dog or cat.

There are many excellent kennels and pet shops throughout Marin, with everything from wolves and monkeys to goldfish boarded there. And the owners of the businesses may be even more familiar with the animals than their masters.

At Romar Kennels in a beautiful hillside setting in Novato, Margo and Robert Kemph run the kennels which caters to dogs, but Sissy, a wolf, is a frequent visitor.

"Wolves are really misnamed," says Margo Kemph. "They are actually trustworthy and sweet people, she claims. "The only problem with having a wolf as a pet is that if he gets out someone might shoot him."

During the holidays and in the summer, the Kemphs' 60 kennels are full. Most of their customers make summer reservations at Christmas time and vice versa for their pets.

The Kemphs also have steady boarders. A bachelor from San Francisco has been boarding his dogs for over 15 years. The present dog, a Brittany spaniel, has been there for six years, with the owner coming out several times a week to visit him.

The Kemphs became interested in dogs when they bought their first Norwegian elkhound. They raised the elkhounds for years as an added income, but now it's only a hobby.

Bob and Margo Kemph have had their kennels in Novato for 22 years, acquiring the land while Bob was in the service, serving as an officer recruiting dogs for wartime use.

The Kemphs, who have three employees working at the kennels, say that during a one year period the animals will eat approximately seven tons of kibble and three and one-half tons of ground beef.

And if you happen to pamper your dog too much, Margo and Bob will see that your dog is put on a diet while you are on vacation, if you request that kind of service.

MAINLY BIRDS, fish and small rodents are boarded at Scooter's Pet Shop in Novato, owned by Mollie and George Weatherstone.

Mollie was born in England, and as are so many English people, is fond of animals. In fact, her mother raised English bull dogs when Millie was young.

When she and George, a Scotsman, were married, Millie interested him in becoming a dog handler. They brought four German shepherds from England to American, through Canada.

The Weatherstones have had many interesting experiences with animals, as well as with their owners. A pair of parakeets was boarded with them for over a year when the owner was serving in Vietnam and his wife lived in Santa Barbara.

Another owner brings in her goldfish in a brandy snifter, to be boarded while she is away on vacation.

SOMETIMES THE owners of the pet shops become too attached to an animal or bird to give it up.

One such is Pollyanna, the parrot, at Scooters Pet Shop. The owners were forced to give her up, and Mollie had become so attached to it that she convinced George that they should keep it.

Under the English influence, Polly now drinks tea and eats toast and calls Mollie "Grandma," mimicking Tracy, the Weatherstones' granddaughter. Tracy and her brother, Richard, often help around the shop. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Poliak of Novato.

JULES GALL of Furs, Feathers and Fins in San Rafael, boards a variety of birds, rodents, lizards, snakes and occasionally a monkey, which sometimes gets a temper tantrum when his owner leaves him.

With all the animals around, do they ever get mixed up? Mr. Gall answers laughingly, "We haven't sold anyone's pet yet."

However, if you can't bear to leave your pet, you can always take an average size dog or cat along as "excess baggage" if you are flying. For a plane flight to Los Angeles pet fare is $4 and to New York City, $8. However, all airlines do not have accommodations, so it's best to check with the airline and make reservations in advance for the animal, as well as yourself.

If your family pet is traveling in the car with you, it is advisable to check in advance if your animal will have accommodations if you are to leave him for any length of time while touring various areas.

As an example, at Carlsbad Caverns National Park, a kennel is provided for your pet while you tour the caverns for 3½ hours.

AND, IF FOR ANY reason you are held up enroute while flying and your animal arrives ahead of you at the San Francisco International Airport, the animal shelter there will take over. It will provide board for your cheetah for $2.50 a day, the monkey for $2.50, and even an elephant for $10 a day. . . .

SPENDING A "vacation" at Romar Kennels, which caters to dogs in Novato, is Sissy, a wolf, at right, who is a frequent boarder. She is taken for an exercise by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kemph, owners of the kennel ,who say "Sissy is 'sweet people'." The Kemphs' Norwegian Elkhound, Tryg, also gets in the act. Birds, cats, monkeys and rodents are also boarded in the many excellent kennels and pet shops throughout Marin County getting the care that means peace of mind to their owners on vacation.

GEORGE WEATHERSTONE, co-owner of Scooter's Pet Shop with his wife, Mollie, should be acquainted with this pair of parakeets. The birds have been boarders at the shop for over a year. Summer vacations and Christmas holidays are the busy times for the kennels and pet shops which board Marin's fidos and tabbies. Reservations are often made six months or more ahead of the planned vacation time.

Strangers Can Mean Danger To Child

By AUDREY SACCO

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — Strangers can mean danger to children.

So warns Hammond Police Chief George Wise.

He pointed out child molesters are primarily teenage or adult boys and men, although there have been cases involving women.

"There are very few," he said.

Police Lt. Richard Dearing and Sgt. Norman Spencer, juvenile officers, agree child molesting is a sickness.

"This kind of person," Lt. Dearing said, "is definitely sick. He's mentally ill and in need of help."

"He's not out for kicks," offered Sgt. Spencer.

"I guess he figures children are defenseless to a point."

Although child molesters are generally found around schools, playgrounds, bus stops and parks, the location isn't important as far as the child is concerned. His or her awareness of the situation is very important.

BEING AWARE of it, the child can beat a path home before any danger is imminent.

From the time a child is old enough to go outside to play, he should be taught and repeatedly reminded to:

Never accept rides from strangers.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Pros And Cons Of Going Steady Really Get Discussions Raging

DEAR HELEN:

Thank you, thank you, for getting arguments started on this going steady business. Actually the "fors" and "againsts" are divided about half and half at our school, but the ones who are against the steady system have been afraid to peep, because they'd be put down as either: 1. siding with the enemy — adults; 2. so unpopular they're jealous; or 3. flirts and not to be trusted.

But when you printed the teen viewpoints — for as well as against steady dating — you really got discussions going. The kids no longer shrug, "That's the way it is, why fight it?" If they want to play the field now, they say so! And more of them are saying so all the time.

As you said last summer, the phrase, "going steady" has filtered down to junior high and even elementary schools, so the label is going out of favor among older teens, but the idea of dating steadily only one person at a time still makes it tough on us "mix now, match later" people. It's called going together here, but it means the same.

Maybe the teen Stamp Out Steadying button campaign will go down in history as the beginning of a new deal in dating. — HOPE SO!

DEAR HOPE:

Might, could. But I'm not going to hold my breath. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Going steady dates back to bobby sox days, maybe before. The bobby sox phase lasted about 25 years and fizzled. If anybody called a teen a bobbysoxer now, she wouldn't know what it meant. I'll bet kids 25 years from now will be asking, "Mom, what was it like to go steady?" just as my kids ask, "Did you really have to color your own margarine?" — SEER

DEAR HELEN:

Thanks for the S.O.S. button. When you offered them last year, I thought they were for the birds but since then I've found out that going steady, to my guy at least, was for the birds and bees. I didn't buy that, so I bought an S.O.S. button instead, and have found out it's lots more fun — PLAYING THE FIELD

DEAR HELEN:

In our button age, yours seems to me the most appropriate. I'm a freshman in a state college where girls out-number fellows three to one. Being male, I figure there's no harm to advertise. Sock a button to me, please. — MIKE

Note to readers: The final batch of S.O.S. (Stamp Out Steadying) buttons is almost gone. Send a dime and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for each button to Helen's S.O.S. Club, Box 9997, Sacramento, Calif., 95823.

DEAR HELEN:

I think steadying is great when the right fella comes along, but I sure resent being classed as a boy's official property just because I talk to him a few times, or maybe date him twice.

Right now I don't want to be tied down, and my S.O.S. button will get the message across. Please rush me two buttons and two membership cards in your club. A boy I know needs that message. — S.O.S. SUPPORTER

DEAR HELEN:

I dated only one girl all through high school. Then I got the ax. It's a year since the big break occurred, and I haven't had a dull moment since — after I got over the hurt, that is. Life is much more fun when you know a lot of girls, and none of them think they own you. — COLLEGE MAN

DEAR HELEN:

I have gone steady three times, and each time it hurt a little more. So I said, "No more, till I'm sure." They call me fickle, and a flirt, but I'm enjoying myself, where my steady friends are often miserable. — L. B.

CHILDREN CAUTION

Report, without fear, to a teacher, parent or police officer, any stranger seen loitering on foot or in a car near places where children assemble.

Try to get the license number of the car. Write it down on paper or scratch it with a stick or stone in the street or on the sidewalk.

Try to remember the stranger's looks in order to describe him for the police.

A child should be taught that a police officer is a friend to whom he can and should turn to when he is trouble.

WHEN TROUBLE occurs or a suspicious incident is brought to a parent's attention, the parent should call the local police department.

Identification of a vehicle or the person involved is of most help to the police, who will trace the person through the description and information a child is able to give.

Discovery is probably the least desirable alternative to a molester, which is why he seldom will chase a child who's running at full speed — he'll just pick out someone else.

A program just getting under way in Hammond is the Helping Hand project which has proved successful in neighboring communities like Lansing, East Chicago and Highland — pioneers in the project.

Through Helping Hand a city or town advisory board is organized which contacts Parent-Teachers Associations. P-TA's work closely with police departments.

A HELPING HAND card, locally a red hand on a white background, is placed in the window of the volunteer's home. It indicates to any child in the neighborhood a home which is open to him in the event of trouble or a suspicious stranger.

When the volunteer is not at home, the sign is removed from the window.

Among the "do's" children should know is screaming.

"The sound of a child screaming in terror is enough to bring everyone outside," Sgt. Spencer said.

"Adults and bystanders are more willing to become involved where a child may be in danger," he went on, "rather than avoid the situation."

TEETHING PAIN?

Wild Window

Today's shades are a far cry from the all-white plain Janes of yesterday. They come in a whole rainbow of vibrant solid colors, several weaves and finishes, even in patterns and stripes.

How about burlap-look shades, in warm red, for the children's room? A gay butterfly pattern for the dining room? A mosaic design for the family room? A plisse weave, with the appearance of Austrian shades, for the living room?

When the Great White Bread comes, there'll be music in the air.

Singing And Bible Study Enjoyed By New President

The Women's Society of Bethel Baptist Church in Novato has elected Mrs. Leland R. Smith as president of its organization. She has served as program chairman, circle chairman and vice president of leadership development during her eight years as a member.

Singing and bible study are most enjoyed by the new president, and she says she loves music. She is discussion leader for the Marin Bible Study Fellowship in Mill Valley and a soloist and member of the Bethel Choir at the Bethel Baptist Church.

Carole Smith attended the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque and at present is finishing her college education, working toward a teacher credential, getting some of her general education requirements at College of Marin.

MRS. LELAND R SMITH

She and her husband, a multiple life insurance underwriter in San Francisco, have three children, Leland Robert Jr., 13; Craig Lawrence, 11, and Lorna Reed, 4 years old.

Officers serving with Mrs. Smith this year are Mesdames James Hill, vice president of interpretation; Philip Dickinson, program chairman; Walter Eisenegger, recording secretary; Frank Gast, treasurer; Milford Carroll, vice president of missions; Ralph Bledsoe, special interest missionaries; Jim Hobbs, white cross chairman; Donald Gorney, leadership and development and spiritual growth; Donald Gorney and James Hill, love gift chairmen.

Mrs. Sam Banks, wife of the minister of the Marin City Baptist Church will conduct the installation services at 10 a.m. April 23 at the church in Novato. A luncheon will follow the installation.

Sharp Toys

Toys without sharp edges and points, neither large and clumsy nor so small as to be lost easily, are best when taking a car trip with children.

Judith Brann Marries Former Larkspur Man

The Park Wedding Chapel in Reno was the setting for the wedding of Judith Brann and Kent Rossi, formerly of Larkspur, and now living in Fresno.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Galer Brann of Reno are the bride's parents. Her sister, Susan Brann, served as Judith's maid of honor.

Best man for the bridegroom was Rodney Black of Reno. Kent is the son of Mrs. Anthony O. Rossi and the late Mr. Rossi of Larkspur. He was graduated from Redwood High School and attended Golden Gate College.

He is employed with Southern Pacific Railroad as freight and passenger agent in Fresno.

Mrs. Forrest Natalini and Patricia and Karen Rossi, all of Larkspur, are Kent's sisters.

The bride was graduated from Reno High School and the University of Nevada in Reno. She is employed with the Washoe County School District in Reno.

Women Work In Service Station

Customers at the Navy Exchange automobile service station at the naval base here do a double-take when they see the attendants are women.

Manager H. R. Walker said he hired the women, wives of service personnel, because of a large turnover in male attendants. He said they do the job well and business is just about the same as usual.

But one of the lady attendants had a complaint. Mrs. John Rinehart said when she and her husband went home to Oklahoma on leave "my dad and brothers and brothers-in-law kept asking me to check the oil and tires."

All Village shops are open Wednesday evenings for your shopping convenience.

Always feel like an empress of China when dining at KUBLAI KHAN. The service is unobtrusively excellent, table appointments are elegant, decor is tranquil and attractive and the food . . . fit for an empress, at least. If you'd prefer to feel like a queen, KUBLAI KHAN offers superb Continental cuisine as well as their famous Oriental fare.

Happy activity going on in The Bride's Corner at ROJEAN'S CARD & PARTY SHOP. This quiet corner is dedicated to easy shopping for the bride as she selects her wedding stationery, favors, etc.

A day on the bay with the family and Fido? Zertainly, if Fido is wearing a Ski-Master life belt from MUTTS OF MARIN. (Where else!)

Just in at CARLTON'S VILLAGE SPORTSWEAR, spring and summer weight suits and sportcoats for men. This collection includes both suburban and city styles in seersucker, also light weight worsteds and wools. The gentlemen will also find good looking and appropriate sports wear at CARLTON'S. Excellent Junior Man department here, too.

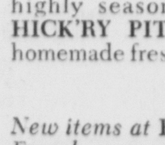
Springtime often means "tonic time" . . . tonic with a wee drop of "something," that is. VILLAGE LIQUORS is prepared to help you prepare for warm weather sipping. They carry both Gilbey's gin and vodka in the one-gallon, "drinks for the house" size . . . both have their own pouring rack.



If you love barbecued meats but find your own efforts usually produce scorched fingers and burned food, let The HICK'RY PIT do your barbecuing. I can't imagine you would ever find better barbecued spareribs, chicken or steaks. The spareribs, by the way, deny the word "spare." They are lean and meaty with a sauce that everyone can enjoy . . . not highly seasoned but just right. To top off a HICK'RY PIT barbecued feast, try their really homemade fresh strawberry pie . . . fabulous!

When Spring Fever hits the last thing in the world I want to do is think about fixing dinner. If your symptoms are similar, let me introduce you to Master Chef, Louis Reimers, at L'ENTREE. Louis has concocted some of the most marvelous casseroles (really dinner entrees) . . . just a half hour of oven time and you produce a "slaved-over-it-all-day" dinner. Watch for the daily casserole specials at L'ENTREE . . . they are all a treat.

New items at RANCHO RAVIRI . . . La Vosgienne French sours, also marzipan. The latter is available in a chocolate coated candy bar or a plain bar for use in baking. To complement their delicious little cocktail nibbles (zippy flavored almonds) RANCHO RAVIRI has added clever cocktail napkins and matches. One of the napkins carries a discreet little phrase to the effect that they aren't meant to look fancy, they're just for messy people. I'll buy, I'll buy!

The better to see yourself with, my dear . . . the Mirror Go Lightly travel make-up mirror at THE GOLDEN CHERUB. This petite pink wonder has four lights around the mirror that swivels from regular to magnified and comes with its own dark pink travel case. Whether at home or vacationing, this dandy mirror would guarantee perfect make-up efforts every time.

Some pretty lively steppin' coming out of THE SANDAL these days. Just made for tripping the light fantastics are the Capezio and Golo bright patents in pumps or sandals . . . some with purses to match. Not for many seasons has foot fashion looked so outrageously pretty and colorful.

Pointers On Packing

For those housewives embarking on a local move who are accumulating cartons from the grocery store for their own packing, here are packing pointers:

— It's trite, but it's also often disregarded: place the heavier items on the bottom of the container, the lighter ones on top.

— Nothing small should be put in the bottom of a large container such as those used for wardrobe, lamp, or mirror. It might be overlooked in unpacking and thrown out.

— Never pack large pictures and mirrors between layers of bedding or linen.

— Don't leave trays and similar articles loose in refrigerators and stoves.

— Don't use newspaper to wrap books, lamp shades, linens and other light colored items; printing ink will rub off.

— Don't pack soap, furniture polish, medicine, cleaning compounds or other flammable materials in the same carton with groceries.

— When not contrary to good packing procedure, pairs, and other items and articles which are used together should be packed in the same container.

— Whenever possible, articles from the same room should be grouped in the same container.

— After packing, mark all containers to show the contents.

Illness May Cancel Peace Visit Of Jeannette Rankin

Miss Jeanette Rankin, former Congressman from Montana, and longtime peace advocate, will not be able to make her scheduled appearance at a peace rally at the Civic Center in San Francisco April 27.

According to Mrs. Vincent Hallinan of Belvedere, national organizer of the Women's Peace March held in January in Washington, D.C., and representative of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade in peace coalition talks in New York earlier this month, Miss Rankin's health does not permit her to travel at this time. The lawmaker, who voted against this country's entrance into both World War I and World War II, is now 87, and recovering from surgery at her winter residence at Watkinsville, Ga.

"Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. had been a member of the original coalition steering committee, so the tragedy in Memphis was deeply felt by all of those who had worked with Coretta King. We will continue to work for peace, but even after the war is over, our organization will be active. Part of the program is rehabilitation in Vietnam, both north and south," Mrs. Hallinan explained.

San Rafael's Rec Program Faces Trims

San Rafael city councilmen, who believe city-sponsored dancing classes, judo instruction and teen-age slim classes compete with private businesses, indicated last night they'll cut back on the recreation department's program at the next budget session.

Councilman Fred Jensen said he was displeased that the new recreation department spring program includes these and other activities, although councilmen had expressed doubts about the activities at their last meeting.

Jensen produced a new clipping — listing such spring activities as children's creative dance, children's tumbling class, youth judo classes, girs charm class and teen yoga class—and declared, "This is just thumbing their nose at the council.

I checked with several dance studios and slim trim places in town and they told me this is definitely in competition with private enterprise."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said he thought the recreation department hadn't deliberately defied the council, but that the program for the activities was already formed by the time the council looked askance at it.

"We'll definitely take another look at this at next budget session, however," said Bettini, "and I think we'll see some cutbacks."

In another action at its regular meeting last night, the council approved an ordinance restricting commercial vehicles, including pickup trucks, to an hour's parking. Some commercial trucks have been parking in five-hour zones in the residential zones. This also will be cut to an hour.

The San Rafael City Council also:

LEASH LAW — Discussed, but took no action, on a letter from Benjamin D. Edger, who said he thought the city ought to have a leash law for dogs. Mayor Bettini said it was worth looking into and the city ought to observe a new leash law in Novato to see how it works out.

SHOUP — Passed a resolution in praise of Col. Harry W. Shoup, outgoing commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base. He is being transferred to Colorado Springs.

CLAIM — Rejected a claim from Mrs. Frederick Amstutz, 9 Eye Street, who said a city sewer that backed up made a mess in her garage.

DIVIDENDS — Announced the city received dividends totaling $33,774 for the 1964 and 1966 fiscal years on its workmen's compensation insurance from the State Compensation Insurance Fund. The dividends reflect on-the-job safety controls.

All-Out Filling Ban Proposed To Save Bay

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The only practical way to save San Francisco Bay from massive filling may be a statute declaring that privately owned lands in the bay cannot be filled — and that the property owners are not entitled to compensation for being refused permission to fill.

This was the finding of a study issued today on how to carry out a plan to save the bay from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission's staff and consultants.

Almost one-quarter of the bay, or some 57,000 acres, is privately owned. The cost to public agencies to buy back the land, much of it sold by the state more than a century ago, would cost $28.5 million to $285 million or more, the report estimated.

Public purchase of these lands "may be impossibly expensive," the report added, noting that there are no likely sources of this much money.

The traditional American rule of law has been that any regulation so strict as to deprive a property owner of the use of his land can require a public agency to compensate him. "But times are changing, and the law has changed with it," the report stated.

"According to one of the nation's foremost experts on the law of public land use regulation," the courts would probably uphold such a statute, the report said.

The regulation, to pass a court test, would have to be based on evidence that such a stringent regulation was necessary, and would have to be based on a master plan for the bay.

In some cases, profitable use still would be possible — dredging for oyster shells for making cement, commercial fishing piers and "fish farming," the report said.

"The public does not have any obligation to reward land speculation," it said. However, government "would face strenuous opposition" if it tried to enact such a ban on fill, the report conceded.

Other Major Recommendations Were:

SAFTY — Plans for future fill projects should be approved first by a panel of geologists, structural engineers and soils engineers to ensure safety of the fill during normal settling and during earthquakes.

APPEARANCE — Plans for fill projects should be reviewed to ensure that they enhance the attractiveness of the shoreline, and they they provide increased public access to the bay.

FILL CHARGE — Developers of fill projects should be required to pay a charge to help compensate the public for damage to the bay, perhaps $1,000 to $3,000 an acre. This money would be used to buy other parts of the bay for public used.use.

SALT PONDS — The salt ponds in the bay, totaling some 10,000 acres in the North Bay and 36,000 acres in the South Bay, should be kept in production. But if production ceases, then the land should be bought by the public and the dikes should be opened to expand the bay.

The report will be considered by the commission at 2 p.m. on Friday in room 1194, State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Credit Goes To Novatan For Rescue

A Novato man was credited by police yesterday with helping to save the life of 37-year-old San Rafael man who waded through mud to reach the waters of San Francisco Bay in an apparent attempt to drown himself.

Committed to Napa State Hospital for observation was John R. Torre of 7 Teakwood Court, San Rafael. He reportedly ran nude down Knight Drive towards the water at about 7:30 a.m.

Driving by at the time was Willie Mello of 1125 Mirabella Avenue, Novato, who police said, pursued the running man into the mud.

The two men struggled as Torre reportedly tried to submerge his own head in the mud. With the help of San Rafael Fire Department, the naked man was dragged back to firm ground.

San Rafael Patrolman Donald M. Rose credited Mello with saving Torre's life. Torre also had apparently slashed his wrists in some fashion, police reported.

Marinite To Judge Peninsula Art Show

Marin artist Doris Morrison will be a judge in the sixth annual Palo Alto Fine Arts Exhibit, April 20-25 at the Palo Alto Community Center.

The show will feature paintings and sculpture. There also will be camera and stitchery exhibits.

Relief Maps For Marin Nearly Done

A topographic mapping program for Marin County is just about complete, County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker reported yesterday to the Marin County Planning Commission.

The county last year let out a contract to Architectural Models Inc. of San Francisco to produce a relief map for the whole county in plastic.

George Johnson, chief of graphics in the planning department, said the entire county will come in 26 sections, each section 32 and one-half-inch square. One inch on the relief map equals one thousand feet, both vertically and horizontally.

When the 26 modules are put together, the longest axis will stretch 22 feet, 6 inches long.

Johnson said the cost of production was $220 per section, or $5,720, However, extra copies of these 26 sections can be purchased for about $20 per section, Johnson estimated.

Johnson said he hopes to have all 26 sections assembled in one location on the second floor hallway of the Civic Center outside the county tax collector's office within two weeks.

The relief maps can be used in a dozen different ways, such as for laying out roads, delineating watershed areas, and for planning in general, said Johnson.

The county provided flat topographic maps, which Architectural Models Inc. used to cut a styrofoam map. Plaster was poured against this styrofoam to make a hard relief map. The plastic mold, the end product, is an impression from the hard plaster.

The company will keep the plaster mold, from which duplicate plastic sections can be made at a fraction of the original cost.

Novato Annex Plan Draws Planners' Fire

The Novato City Council's suggestion that developers be induced to annex to the City of Novato before they start developing land next to the city limits drew fire from members of the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday.

"I don't understand why anyone should be required to annex to a city if he doesn't want to enter the city," said Commissioner Hugh Dougherty.

On April 4, the Novato City Council asked the Local Agency Formation Commission to recommend this policy to the Marin County Board of Supervisors: When developments are contemplated in county areas next to the City of Novato, the county officials should direct the prospective developer to first proceed with annexation to the City of Novato.

Dougherty contended this sounds too much like "coercing annexation."

"It's what you'd call creeping annexation," added Commissioner Margaret Azevedo.

On a motion by Mrs. Azevedo, planning commissioners asked Planning Director Paul C. Zucker to draft a letter to the supervisors expressing concern over the policy suggested by Novato and asking for a full public discussion.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

BLACK POINT — Approved a resort commercial zoning for the industrially zoned tidelands on the Petaluma River waterfront between the highway bridge and the railroad bridge.

LAND DIVISION — Continued until May 20 an appeal by Melba I. Tucker, who wants to divide her property on Green Glen Way, Tamalpais Valley, into three lots. The planning director required that fire hydrants be installed. Mrs. Tucker appealed because the water district requires a tank installation in order to provide hydrant service to the area.

DUPLEXES — Approved a duplex planning district zoning for duplex property owned by Theo and Margaret Althausen at the corner of Almonte Boulevard and Rising Road, Mill Valley. The 40,000-square-foot property now contains four duplexes, and the rezoning allows construction of another duplex.

SENATE BILL — Voted 3-2 to support SB-231, which would allow the Bay Conservation and Development Commission to regulate bay fill until the Legislature adjourned in 1969. Without this bill, the BCDC's authority over bay filling would expire next January. Commissioner William F. Upton pointed out. Niels Schultz Jr. and Eugene R. Trombley voted no. Schultz said he wanted copies of the bill before the commission and arguments pro and con before he would vote for the bill. Margaret Azevedo, Hugh Dougherty and Dr. Upton voted to support the bill. Walter F. Freitas abstained, explaining he does not have sufficient background information.

SEQUEIRA — Recommended agricultural zoning for the 19-acre Julia T. Sequeira property on Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, at the western end of Blackstone Emerystone and Flagstone Drives. Most of the property is already zoned agricultural, except for a small parcel zoned planned community. The planning staff recommended a change to one-family residential, but planning commissioners voted to put the entire property in agricultural.

EARLY ADJOURNMENT — Chairman Eugene R. Trombley rapped the gavel for adjournment at 12:30 p.m., a rarity for the planning commission, which usually meets until 5 or 6 p.m. Continuation of several major items contributed to the early windup.

Watercolor Class

California artist-teacher Richard Yip will conduct a field watercolor class Saturday and Sunday in Marin County. Painting locations will be Fort Baker and Sausalito on Saturday and the Greenbrae area on Sunday. Enrollments may be made with Mrs. A. W. Ralston, P. O. Box 462, Fairfax.

During the 10 years beginning in 1840, Louisville, Ky., was the largest tobacco and pork market in the world.

Doctors Strike

ROME (AP) — Nearly 20,000 doctors employed in city and state hospitals throughout Italy began a three-day strike today demanding salary increases due them since 1966.

'Spring Sing' Set At College Tonight

The third annual "spring sing" for Larkspur School District pupils and parents will be at 8 p.m. today in the College of Marin gymnasium, District Supt. Milton S. Cohen said yesterday.

He estimated about 350 pupils from the fourth through the eighth grades of all schools in the district will participate.

Folk Guitar Classes

Classes in folk guitar for adults and teen-agers, sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department, will start tomorrow at 7:30 p.m., for beginners and 8:30 p.m. for intermediates at the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks streets. The instructor will be Chris Pratt.

HIGH-QUALITY WRITING PROJECT

Pupils Eschew Mimeographed Musings

By MARY LEYDECKER

Marin magazine readers were offered a new publication this week — a rich collection of poetry and fiction, drawings and cartoons and even a crossword puzzle.

"The Cook Chronicle," published attractively on high quality paper, has a professional air about it, but it is the work of 30 first-through-sixth graders at Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo.

Members of the school's "special interest group," the youngsters wrote and illustrated the magazine and working in small groups which met twice a week for about 40 minutes at a time.

Although sixth grader Gordon Richards defined the group as "the students who are able to make up their work" (missed from regular classtime), Principal Charles Lavaroni said that the youngsters were chosen because "they tested high."

Ida Geary of Mill Valley, a writer and publications consultant, has directed the class in their writing efforts. "The principal and I had the idea from the beginning that the children's work should be published," she said.

"When I told the youngsters about it, they were adamant that they didn't want 'anything mimeographed,' " she said with a laugh.

As a result she went to Arlen and Clare Philpott at the Tamal Land Press, Fairfax, who published the magazine for a "very low price" for the school.

Mrs. Geary explained that she feels the way to get children to write is to tell them to start writing "without worrying about spelling or punctuation."

"These can be corrected later, I tell the children, but writing is now," she added.

Mrs. Geary's method of teaching led to such efforts as a poem by sixth grader Donna Rose, who wrote:

"Some think
is golden.
But I think silence
is holding
love and peace
need."

In a different vein, Danny McCaw, a fourth grader wrote:

"Times tables are angry
They hit and they scratch and they fight
And they don't lie down on the paper."

Drawings, too, enrich the magazine. Mrs. Geary said that she noticed the children were doodling on their notebooks so she asked them to make their drawings on small pieces of paper. If she especially likes them, she has the children ink the drawings and paste them into their notebooks.

One of these, a sort of surrealist flower, captioned, "Mumbles the Flower," by Tory Tasat enhances the back cover of the magazine.

Other children, like Donna Rose, illustrate their stories.

A young journalist, Gordon Richards, disappeared from class one day, Mrs. Geary said, returning with a list of facts about the school. In his article, "Isabel Cook School 1968," he concludes with "our principal is very nice (opinion)."

"Some of the children are more verbal than literate," Mrs. Geary said. "So I have them dictate their stories to me."

The little girls, however, often turn out finished products on their very first try with neatness and spelling well taken care of.

The special interest group is spending its last week on the writing project now, Mrs. Geary said. A second issue of "The Cook Chronicle" is in the offing, and other students in the school have been asked to submit material this time.

After the writing project, the youngsters will spend several sessions on a science project with Mr. and Mrs. David Cavagnero of the Louise Boyd Natural Science Museum. "These children are capable of learning any kind of subject," Lavaroni said.

Ross School Custodians Get Pay Hike

A pay raise of 5 per cent was approved last night by the Ross School District trustees for the three custodians of the school. The raises will cost the district about $900 a year, according to Supt. Robert D. Gowan.

The trustees postponed action on a proposed sabbatical leave policy until the next meeting on May 20. The new policy would grant teachers one-half of their regular pay for a year of sabbatical leave.

The current policy is for teachers on sabbatical leaves to receive the difference between their salaries and that of the teacher hired to replace them.

The trustees, who reviewed a working budget for 1968-69, set 8 a.m. next Tuesday for a tour of the school to ascertain needs such as painting, lighting fixtures and furniture.

Action on fringe benefits asked by district employees was also postponed until the May 20 meeting, Gowan said.

Bagley Proposes New Span Panel To Replace Present Agencies

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to create a San Francisco-Marin Transit District to replace both the Marin Transit and Golden Gate Bridge and Highway districts was introduced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The bill would allow the new district to use bridge revenues for all forms of transit. It would authorize the sale of revenue bonds financed by toll revenue and of general obligation bonds if approved by 60 per cent of the electorate.

The new district would have the power to levy a property tax of up to 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, the same limit now imposed on the Marin Transit District.

The new district would be managed by a nine-member board, two from Marin and seven from San Francisco. This would be the same number of directors the two counties now have on the bridge board.

The bill also provides for the future annexation of Sonoma and Napa counties to the new district. Annexation would have to be approved by the citizens of those counties.

Bagley and Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, last month introduced bills to replace the bridge district with a Golden Gate Authority, a regional agency to administer all Bay Area bridges, airports and seaports. These bills are not expected to pass.

Bagley long has maintained that the bridge board gives too little voice to Marin, and too much to the northern counties to which the bridge is of no interest as a commuter connection.

Bagley today also introduced, in skeleton form, a bill to eliminate about 20 obsolete state boards and commissions which now cost almost $1 million a year to operate. Bagley said he would prepare details of this bill in the near future.

Today was the deadline to introduce legislation during the current session of the Legislature.

At the request of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Bagley also introduced a bill to allow the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District to reimburse ark owners for the loss of their arks on Corte Madera Creek. State law now bars such reimbursement, and similar legislation has failed in previous years.

Bagley also introduced a bill to authorize school districts to contract with county superintendents of schools for bus transportation three bills and to combine the state's two existing nurse licensing boards.

Nursing education and practice would benefit by having coordinated planning, evaluation and action, said Bagley.

Sleeping Youth Found In Attic

Police roused an 18-year-old youth from the attic of the Greyhound Bus Depot in Mill Valley at 11:30 a.m. yesterday and booked him at Marin County Jail for investigation of illegal lodging in a public place.

After a report from a city custodian that someone was in the attic, police peered through a trap door to find Robert William Scofield Jr., of no fixed address, asleep under a blanket.

Scofield was booked into jail in lieu of $35 bail and was to appear in Marin Municipal Court later today.

Marin Union Members Vote To Strike Phone Company

Union members in Marin and elsewhere in Northern California and Nevada have voted to strike Thursday against the Pacific Telephone Co.

Main issue between the company and the AFL-CIO Communication Workers of America locally and nationally — is an 18-month wage reopening clause in the three-year contract.

The CWA is demanding a 10.5 per cent wage boost against a company offer of 6.7 per cent.

Local No. 9404 in Marin County voted Saturday to strike, according to Ted Homen, local president. Four hundred telephone company workers are represented by the union.

In a recorded statement obtained by dialing a local telephone number, Homen said the local's vote would show the company that a "whitewashed piecemeal agreement will not be accepted."

"Keep cool and prepare to hit the bricks on April 18," the message concluded.

Jack LaNoue, Pacific Telephone district manager for Marin County, estimated approximately 550-600 telephone personnel, including operators, service repairmen and installers, would go out on strike, "if the strike occurs."

Remaining on the job would be approximately 150 supervisory and office personnel who will man the switchboards and handle emergency installations and repair work, LaNoue said.

The strike will have little effect on the average telephone user, he noted.

Building Use Permit Renewed

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments last night renewed a use permit for Michel Demaurex for the Donahue Building on the waterfront, used as an office building.

Setback variances were approved for George Sugarman at Main Street and Tamalpais Avenue and for John Cullen at 86 Sugarloaf Drive.

Variances for F. E. Buck at 1930 Straits View Drive were continued for action, following a field trip by the board, at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. April 23 at city hall, according to Phil V. Scott, secretary.

Car Crash Solves Area Burglaries

A minor accident at 12:50 a.m. Saturday, led Novato police to recover a stolen car and the solution of approximately 40 burglaries in Novato, San Rafael, Marin and Sonoma counties, Novato police reported today.

Investigation started when a 17-year-old youth and a 14-year-old girl crashed their car through the barrier at the end of Montura Way, police reported. The young couple, unhurt, walked away from the scene of the accident and was stopped by police, to whom they admitted that the car had been stolen about half an hour earlier from Thomas Edward Hughes of 44 Western Drive, Novato, police reported.

The couple was cited to juvenile authorities for auto theft and curfew violation.

When questioned by police, they involved the 12 and 16-year-old brothers of the girl in receiving stolen property and having marijuana, according to police. The 16-year-old boy was cited to juvenile authorities for having stolen property and the 12-year-old for the possession of marijuana.

This led police to further questioning and investigation, which cleared up about 40 burglaries in a wide area, police reported. It also involved about nine other juveniles, according to police.

Marijuana Case Suspect Freed

Bradford E. Bishop, 19, of Novato, was freed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday when the district attorney said he will not issue a complaint pending further investigation of his arrest Sunday at Stafford Dam.

Sheriff's deputies booked Bishop for suspicion of possessing marijuana, narcotics equipment and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Officers said Bishop had partly smoked marijuana cigarettes in his possession together with a pipe-like tube used for smoking the weed to the last puff.

A 16-year-old boy with him was cited for being present where marijuana was being used and released to his parents.

Novato Players Elect Officers

Gerald Lombard was elected president of the Novato Community Players at its meeting last night, according to Paul Terry, publicity chairman.

Roland Brown was elected vice president; Albert Richter, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Ramsay, secretary. Mrs. Paul Terry was named historian.

The new officers will be installed at a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. April 27 at Nave Lanes.

"Sweet Charity," by Neal Simon, was chosen as the musical to be presented in May of next year, Terry said.

Words Of Expert Apply To Current Problems

As Marin grapples with "advanced planning" and "balanced transportation" studies, we find particularly timely and applicable some observations by a longtime lecturer on housing and community planning.

Not directed at Marin, but certainly fitting what has happened and is happening, are these comments:

"Additional highways had to be built, resulting in the increased requirements and decreased convenience of transit facilities. These land developments have in most cases failed to reduce the cost of living, seldom improved standards, and disorganized the balance of community services upon which the economic structure of the city was based. . .

"THE INVESTMENT in parkways and boulevards has reached a point where it is a serious question whether the cost of these boulevards can any longer be borne by those who wish to take advantage of them by moving out of the city. . .

"A glance at the map of any metropolitan district will show that all, or a major share, of the modern automobile roadways are planned in direct relation to the metropolitan city, and not for the purpose of facilitating intercommunity travel within the area outside the metropolis. These roads are, of course, technically very efficient, but socially they serve the exact contrary purpose, namely, to accelerate congestion where it already exists, rather than to distribute population and all the essentials for its independent living. . .

"TRANSIT FACILITIES had to be developed to meet existing congestion, which had no justification from the point of view of orderly settlement. Suburban development took place, not as a normal choice of a particular mode of living, but as a means of escape from intolerable conditions that had overcome the city. . . Country once open was soon transformed into highly speculative real estate enterprises, covered with buildings intended to derive the largest revenue from the smallest possible space. The country was pushed farther and farther out of the reach of people, thus making additional park spaces essential. These park spaces also had to be created out of built-up areas that could only be acquired at a heavy cost, and at a sacrifice of property yielding necessary taxes to the community."

And, regarding the surveys of which we have a plethora:

"A survey is often merely evidence that, under a given set of wrong assumptions or generalizations, one can build up a set of facts which would justify action in harmony with these assumptions."

ALL OF THESE timely comments we have quoted from the book, "Housing the Masses," by Carol Aronovici, lecturer on housing and community planning at New York University and Columbia University.

It was published in 1939.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Ferment In Communist Europe Presents Opportunity for U.S.

WASHINGTON — Two things are clear from the Communist upheaval in eastern Europe:

The Kremlin is scared stiff at what's happening and is trying to arrest the march of democratic forces.

The United States is presented with a superb opportunity to encourage these reforms, not by propaganda or exhortation, but by opening the channels of two-way trade and by expanding every avenue of cultural contact.

MOSCOW is already acting to put the brake on the eastern European Communist and non-Communist leaders who are demanding economic and political liberalization of their regimes whether the Russian leaders like it or not.

They may be slowed down by there will be no turning back short of the massive use of military force by the Soviet Union as in Hungary in 1956. That seems unlikely.

It is hard to overstate the significance of what is happening. It is this:

In the wake of de-Stalinization moves and in order to ease the pent-up resentment against the Stalin policy that the Soviet Union offered the only way and the only pattern of Communism, the Kremlin conceded that there can be "many different roads to Communism."

But now the Communist states of Eastern Europe are turning this right upside down and Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia are leading the way on the road FROM Communism. That's a road which Moscow hadn't taken into account.

ACTUALLY, there are three different but interwoven revolutions going ahead at the same time in eastern Europe today:

1—The Nationalist Revolution. All the Communist east European states except East Germany are seeking to rid themselves of Soviet Union political domination and to achieve sovereign status. They are making substantial headway.

2—The Economic Revolution. Its goal is to shed the Russian economic yoke which was designed to turn the East European economies into tributaries for Russia's benefit. This revolution began first in Belgrade when Tito broke with Stalin and it is gaining momentum elsewhere.

3—The Civil Rights Revolution. It is being felt everywhere in eastern Europe and to some extent in the Soviet Union. Communist intellectuals as well as non-Communists want more say through democratic means in decision-making — and they're going to get it.

The Czechs are already getting it. The new liberal leadership of the Communist regime is writing an American-style bill of rights into law with a guarantee for freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of assembly. It is reducing the powers of the Communist party and increasing the powers of the national assembly.

WHAT CAN THE U.S. do to further these goals?

More than a year ago President Johnson said he wanted to "build bridges" to eastern Europe. Now is the time to begin.

More than a year ago a commission of distinguished business leaders urged a broadening of trade in non-strategic items. To do this Congress will have to give the president authority to grant most-favored-nation treatment where it would be helpful. Now is the time for Congress to act.

It seems to me clearly in the interests of the United States to help the regimes in eastern Europe to keep moving in this direction. Two-way trade and wider contact with the West will free them from Kremlin economic domination and will help expand their increasingly consumer-oriented economies. These Communist regimes are not going to be overthrown by force. But they are in the process of racial change by evolution. We should encourage that evolution.

Prof. Zbigniew Brzezinski of Columbia Universty has summed it up accurately and vividly: "You can't become half pregnant and you can't become half democratic. There's no stopping now."

And by the same token, can any regime long remain half-Communist and half-free? I doubt it.

King Deserves To Be Remembered

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In reference to William M. McShane's letter of appraisal of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., published in your 10 April edition, it occurs to me that the majority, both Jewish and Roman, considered Christ a threat to the establishment in 33 A.D. Proper Indians (not to mention the British) looked somewhat askance at Gandi's methods of operation and, I understand, Buddha set the nobility on its ear in his time. And, Mr. McShane, unless memory fails me, the Irish weren't exactly passive under persecution . . . or have you forgotten the melody to "The Rising of the Moon"? Rocking the boat has never been a sucessful way to popularity. But elsewise, what will move stagnant water?

Twenty years from now, I doubt the names McShane and O'Reilly will stir men's hearts. But King . . . well, he had a dream. And if naming schools, public buildings and towns after him will keep that dream alive so that it may become a reality . . . let's cover the nation with Kingsvilles and Kingstowns and King Cities. But never, never let this alleviate the duty each one of us has to fulfill Dr. King's dream.

The real tragedy to me is that the death of a man like Dr. King can give excuse to racialism of any kind, for he truly lived for and belongs to all mankind.

Martin Luther King 'Truest Christian'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The letter from Marie A. Woelfl in your April 13 issue should not go unanswered. Many of us, white and black, believe Martin Luther King, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, was one of the truest Christians of our times and a sincere believer in non-violence. Understandably, he was under tremendous pressure to join the violent, desperate revolution espoused by Stokely Carmichael and Rap Brown, but I believe he wished he could persuade these men to follow his own more orderly and non-violent tactics. He once said (in 1963):

"The saving of our world from pending doom will come, not through the complacent adjustment of the conforming majority, but through the creative maladjustment of a non-conforming minority. I confess that I never intend to become adjusted to the evils of segregation and the crippling effects of discrimination, to the moral degeneracy of religious bigotry and the corroding effects of narrow sectarianism, to economic conditions that deprive men of work and food, and the insanities of militarism and the self-defeating effects of physical violence."

I believe that it is certainly true that we white Americans and our sluggish legislature are causing the riots—if the conditions underlying the restlessness leading to riot could be eliminated, the riots would not occur. When are the Marie Woelfls and myself going to see to it that all Americans have the complete equality guaranteed them by our Constitution? . . .

Barham Would Debate Bagley

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Because of the "Brickbat" to me and regardless of my reason for not being specific about (Assemblyman William T.) Bagley, I believe the voters of the Seventh Assembly District should be apprised of the difference between Bill Bagley and myself.

Your policies toward extending the Brown Act, and Bagley's toying with near-open disclosure on all levels (except the legislators), would indicate a receptiveness to open disclosure through open confrontation between the two candidates.

I have challenged Bagley and a number of organizations have invited both of us to speak on the same platform. Bagley's refused every invitation. Is he afraid to report back to his district, the "Smug Suburbs" as he calls it?

If the Independt-Journal and Bagley are interested in open disclosure, then an open confrontation and debate should be welcomed. I welcome it. . . .

What Do Negro Agitators Want?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

One really wonders who the enemies of the Negro race are, with their own race working for the government in Washington, rioting, looting and burning.

What do these people want? All we have worked for, gratis?

LIVING CALLS FOR STAMINA

The word "stamina" if often associated with long-distance runners or other types of athletes.

But it can apply just as well to endurance of any kind.

It is defined as: "resistance to fatigue, illness, hardship or the like."

There are many ways in which each of us can show "staying power" in seeking to achieve ends that will benefit humanity. Here are a few tips:

1. Be willing to accept misunderstanding and contradiction instead of craving honor or glory.

2. Show initiative when most people are apathetic.

3. Plunge ahead when it would be so easy to drift with the tide.

4. Take a courageous stand for the rights of others when tempted to succumb to fear of expediency.

5. Live up to family, community and religious obligations, even if you feel very much alone.

Recall frequently that the Lord Himself is supplying you with the stamina needed to keep at it.

"Be strong in the Lord and in the strength of His might." (Ephesians 6:10)

Strengthen me, Lord, to preserve in doing what I know is right, despite any obstacle.

'Test Project' Welfare Measure Could Result In Reform, Savings

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Further attempts to get at the bottom of the welfare problem in California would be made if legislation offered by Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, is adopted this year.

Veneman, as everyone else, is concerned over the increasing load. He says:

"In light of the expanding case-load of welfare recipients, and the increasing tendency to become tied to the system, there is a mounting need and demand to restructure and redefine the entire structure of the welfare program.

"If any major breakthroughs are to be made in this complex field, new and innovating approaches must be tested in practice before making nay major policy changes."

VENEMAN'S BILL provides for county demonstration projects to test on a small scale many of the assumptions which underlie and regulate operation of the welfare program.

He proposes that the program be subject to testing and validation as to effectiveness.

Corrections in the program, he pointed out, have to come from the local level. Demonstration projects in some of the counties, the assemblyman proposes, would examine critically the financial, as well as program effects, in terms of the present state-county-federal administration of welfare.

HIS LEGISLATION faces a stringent battle because of the many liberal legislators who depend on welfare recipients for re-election.

Yet there is mounting demand for major reform, for the simple reason that welfare, next to education, takes the biggest bite out of the tax dollar. Taxpayers cannot hope for any surcease from tax increases as long as the welfare program continues on its present basis.

There has not been a budget period since welfare programs started in California more than 30 years ago that has seen any reduction in costs. Many supporters of unlimited welfare blame this on the increasing population of California, but others contend it has become a way of life now passing into the third generation, coupled with the fact that in many instances, the recipient can do better living off the government than he can working for a living.

A test program such as suggested by Assemblyman Veneman could uncover some of the basic causes contributing to the increase in welfare in a time of high employment and job opportunity. Taxpayers eventually might derive some benefit.

Strikes By Public Servants

(Reprinted from Sacramento Union)

Even New York, city of cynicism, was shaken from its customary fatalistic attitude by the recent strike of garbage workers. The public servants held the city to ransom.

In recent months New York and other cities across the nation have experienced strikes by nurses, teachers, firemen, welfare workers and others whose protected position as civil servants normally precludes strike action.

Teachers particularly have been most aggressive. California, New Mexico, Florida, New York, Tennessee, Connecticut and Illinois have been among the states where teachers have withheld their labor. Schools or classes closed when agreement failed.

This new militancy reflects a changing approach to the responsibility of public servants. Their special conditions of tenure, pensions, sick leave, vacations and collective bargaining have placed them in a position of public trust.

How far do we travel this road to placate those who could cut the very lifelines of our everyday life — water, power and sanitation — by strike action? Are we facing a day in which the normal flow of community life can be utterly wrecked by the inconsiderate actions of some of those bearing the honored title of "public servant?"

The irresponsibility of teachers strikes is without question. Their position as respected members of the community is thus diminished. They have lost, in the eyes of their wards, the children, that aura of integrity so essential to their work.

Can anarchy be far behind when public servants behave like this?

TRY AND STOP ME

A WAITER in a delicatessen suddenly took sick and was rushed to a doctor who lunched regularly where the waiter labored. "The pain is killing me," he moaned as he lay waiting in the emergency ward. Some Asian Leaders Fear Coalition In South Vietnam

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky are not particularly happy with the present direction of the search for Vietnam peace talks.

They fear the United States will attempt to pressure them into a coalition government with the Communists, and this, they have said, they never will accept.

There are others, too, who fear a U.S. sell-out.

Here is a partial rundown:

BANGKOK: The prospect of imminent peace negotiations is causing a bad case of heartburn among top echelon Thais, who fear the prospect of being left defenseless as the only pro-Western nation remaining on the Indochina peninsula. The fears have been compounded by recent Communist advances in Laos and an upsurge of guerrilla activity in the north and northeast parts of the country. No amount of reassurance from U.S. officials in Bangkok has been able to convince the Thais that the United States isn't planning to get out of Vietnam and avoid committing itself in what many expect to be "the next Vietnam" in Thailand. The Thais will not participate in preliminary Vietnam talks, and there now seems a possibility they may not participate in formal negotiations either.

TAIPEI: The Nationalist Chinese government is expected to advise the United States against formation of a coalition government in South Vietnam. It will inform Washington of its strong belief that a government in which a Communist Party backed by its own army is represented will only lead to a Communist takeover of the whole country in a very short time. The Nationalists also will warn Washington that in the case of Vietnam, the Communists may think a coalition government is not short-cut enough. They may just use peace talks to strengthen and redeploy their own armed forces for fatal blows and at the same time to demoralize the South Vietnamese Army. The Nationalists will point out to Washington that they were the victims of the old Communist trick of "fight, fight, talk, talk" before they were driven off the China mainland.

SEOUL: In Hawaii, South Korean President Park Chung Hee will make clear his country's opposition either to prolonged Vietnam peace talks or to a Geneva-type conference. The Koreans, with memory of prolonged armistice talks in their own country and frequent Communist violations of it, believe prolonged talks can lead only to Hanoi's advantage. They also fear that Vietnam war allies would be excluded from talks in a Geneva style conference.

There are others, too, who fear the consequences of any U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

Among these can be counted Malaysia, Laos and Burma, even though the last could not be expected to take a public stand. All would feel forced to make an accommodation of their own then with Red China.

Some Candidates Put Waiting Hours To Good Use In Novato

What do candidates for city council do while the votes are being counted?

These are nervous and anxious moments for every candidate. We know that some of the candidates for the Novato City Council used these hours for a very worthy endeavor. They went out and took down their campaign signs.

There are still some of these signs in evidence. Now we'll see which of the candidates really meant their campaign pledges to help beautify the city by seeing how long it takes to get all the signs removed.

THERE WILL BE just one new face on the Novato City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. today to canvass the votes. Mayor J. Wayne Womack and Councilman Douglas M. Merrill both were successful in their bids for re-election. Joseph Gargiulo will be the new face on the council, having won third place in last Tuesday's election. He will replace William Jack Adams, who did not seek re-election.

The votes will be canvassed by the old city council. That will be its last official act.

In the past, the new council has immediately reorganized, selecting one of its members as mayor and another as mayor pro-tem.

Womack, who has been the mayor of Novato for four of the eight years since incorporation, said he did not think that the mayor's position should be a one-man job. He said he felt it should be passed around.

Our guess is the new mayor will be Harley McAskill.

Womack said that he is thinking about running for the county board of supervisors in two years. It will depend on how the political situation is at that time, he said. Supervisor William A. Gnoss, who represents the Fifth (Novato) District, said in running two years ago that this would be his last term.

SOMETHING long overdue is finally happening in Novato.

The city parks department is getting around to landscaping and improving the outside of the Novato Community House.

When citizens, with voluntary labor, refurbished the inside of the community house in mid-Victorian style, the city council promised the outside would be repaired and landscaped to match the inside.

It has taken the city a long time to get around to it, but the entire corner at Machin and De Long avenues around the community house is beginning to take on a new look. New brick steps, planter boxes and retaining walls have been installed and are being planted.

When the project is completed and grass planted between the curving sidewalks, the Novato Community House will probably look better inside and outside than it ever has in its long history.

SPEAKING OF parks, since the parks bond issue went down to defeat, Novato Civic Foundation members are talking about taking the matter into their own hands to start improvements on Pioneer Memorial Park.

The foundation was formed to help the city get parks. It bided tis time awaiting the outcome of the park bonds. Now that the need has arisen, the foundation may start work on projects calling for volunteer labor.

It's Easy Enough To Destroy -Even Little Children Know How

It is a marvelously simple thing to destroy. Anyone can do it. You can demolish buildings, wax dolls, dignity and social

The young are particularly adept at destroying, or trying to. University students are traditionally the self-appointed destroyers. Having reached the age when they become aware of the injustices of the world, the shock of this realization galvanizes them to action without experience, and most of all, action without knowledge and understanding of historical background. One conclusion leaps to their eager minds — their elders have failed!

WITH THE NATURAL confidence of youth they then plunge in to make right that which they believe to be wrong, to make good that which they believe to be evil. Having learned to destroy, they feel that that's all it takes. Destroy! And like Phoenix rising out of the ashes, the good will arise.

Because of their youth they haven't yet learned how to build. They haven't yet learned that this takes the best of the best men, that it is the stamp of greatness to contribut something of positive worth. This man we call genius. The students haven't yet learned a shockingly simple truth, so simple that, according to Robert Ruark, the Basutos, a primitive tribe of Africa, knows:

"If a man does away with his traditional way of living and throws away his good customs, he had better first make certain that he has something of value to replace them."

Something of value to replace them! That's the key!

Usually, there is belief that something of value is offered when, in fact, it is simply a time-worn formula long ago disproven and discarded. Social reforms do not take place in a vacuum. Their effects are far reaching into unexpected areas and often in undesirable ways. Sometimes these effects are downright injurious and the loss outweighs the gain. Prudence then demands caution, not speed, when making social reforms.

YOU HAVE to admit that the young should be commended for their zeal. They should be praised for their concern and their inquiry. This is a healthy, vigorous condition which should be encouraged and applauded, even though you may disapprove of their ideas. Only when they go beyond their mental gymnastics and begin undisciplined action should they be reined.

In time, hopefully, they will learn. But they won't learn unless they are taught, and sometimes the lessons are harsh. This, too, they must learn. Much of this teaching must come from adults. We must not fail to offer sound guides. And we must not fail to punish when punishment is needed. To do less would be to commit a grave injustice. To make it too easy is not an act of love.

In time they will learn, although the process is often painful, wearing and exasperating. In time they will learn not to take the limited view. They will learn about relationships which exist in the world, in the mysterious entity called "life."

And in time, with enough learning, with enough experience and with enough thought and evaluation, they might — just might, mind you — acquire a touch of wisdom.

SO YOU LOOK at the young, feeling sad that wisdom, as Hesse's Siddartha says, cannot be taught. That it must be acquired. It must come through the hard way, if at all.

And then you take another look at the Old Testament . . .

"He who seeks wisdom seeks grief and he who increaseth his knowledge increaseth his sorrow."

And then you know . . . .

Today is Tuesday, April 16, the 107th day of 1968 with 259 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1862, Congress abolished slavery in the District of Columbia.

Also in 1862, by order of the Confederate Congress, all white men between the ages of 14 and 35 were ordered conscripted into the armed forces of the south.

In 1947 more than 500 persons were killed when a French freighter carrying nitrates exploded at a dock in Texas City, Tex.

In 1962 three Roman Catholic segregationists in Louisiana were excommunicated for fighting school integration.

A thought for the day: British novelist John Galsworthy said, "If you do not think about the future, you can not have one."

WINNING BRIDGE

The Bridge Table Is Good Place To Build Character–Good Or Bad

You hear a lot about playing football to build character, and maybe it's all true. But you build character (both good and bad) at the bridge table, too, and you don't have to run the hundred in ten flat unless you leave your partner in a cue bid.

PRACTICE MATCH

When today's hand was played in a practice match last month, Bruce Elliott, of the Canadian Olympic bridge team, led the four of hearts against a game in notrump, played by Robert Jordan of the U.S. Olympic team.

A greedy declarer would play a low heart from the dummy, taking advantage of the "free" finesse. It would turn out to be very expensive.

East would win with the king of hearts and would see that his side could not get rich leading hearts. East would think next of spades, but would remember that South showed a stopper in the unbid spades by bidding two notrump.

By the process of elimination East would be guided to a diamond switch. Then the defenders would be in position to take four diamond tricks and the ace of clubs, for a two-trick penalty.

DIDN'T HAPPEN

It didn't happen because Jordan wasn't greedy. He saw nine virtually sure tricks, and he couldn't see any reason to jeapardize them.

Jordan stepped up with the ace of hearts at the first trick and returned the king of clubs. Now nothing could stop him from winning five clubs, one diamond, one heart and two spades — enough tricks for his game contract.

It isn't necessary to say that a good bridge player is a plaster saint. But the good player does manage to control his natural greed — at least while he's at the bridge table.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one club, you respond one diamond, and he bids one heart.

It is up to you again, with:

♠—J 4
♥—J 9 5 4
♦—K J 7 4 2
♣—A 5

ANSWER: Bid three hearts. This is a very slight overbid, but two hearts would be a massive underbid. No other responses are available.

New University Negro Program

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Trustees of the University of Massachusetts have approved a new program to attract underprivileged Negroes to the campus.

The plan, approved Monday, would lower admission standards for Negroes from ghetto areas, set up a tutorial program for entering Negro students and provide financial grants.

The university now has 5 Negroes among its 10,600 students, a school spokesman said.

in search of a special family. We'd like 3 or 4 children & parents, of course, but they must like beautifully rolling green hills, space & neighbors who like this too. We think they must be discriminating as to comfort & we expect them to demand a quality 4 bedroom, 2 bath home, beautiful kitchen, large family room & garage w/tremendous loft space. Deep pile carpet thruout. The children should want to keep their horses nearby so that they can ride after school or all weekend. Rocket Fan's Explosives Cache Studied

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today he still does not know if the homemade explosives found at the Oak Manor home of an amateur rocketry enthusiast are powerful enough to warrant bringing criminal charges against the young man.

In question are the explosives of George K. Giakovmis, arrested at his mother's home at 10 Gary Way, Oak Manor, March 27.

HAYWARD FIRE

Giakovmis was arrested for Hayward police after a series of explosions and fire destroyed Giakovmis's room in a Hayward boarding house the night before.

When Marin officers arrested Giakovmis, they reportedly found nine cylindrical objects suspected to be homemade bombs under his coat in the house, a felt marker pen believed to contain an explosive, two glass containers of a crystaline chemical and a blue fountain pen containing a clear liquid.

The state Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation (CII) yesterday reported to Bales on the suspected contraband.

The "homemade bombs" were actually oversized firecrackers, according to the report. They were made with powdered aluminum and potassium chlorate (flash powder).

The investigation and identification bureau reported it set off two of the firecrackers and "the resulting explosions were loud and could cause severe injury if held or placed near a body."

GRENADE TAG

The felt marker pen contained an ounce of flash powder and should be labeled a bomb or grenade, the report said.

At the top of the pen were exposed matcheads, which would ignite and detonate the "grenade" when thrown, the report said.

The fountain pen contained no explosive substance, according to the bureau, and the chemical in the glass containers was flash powder.

Bales said today that the report does not indicate just how dangerous the explosives are.

"Any firecracker can cause severe injuries when exploded close to a body," he said, and more information is needed on the "grenade."

Bales said his office will ask for an additional report from CII.

Giakovmis is scheduled for a preliminary hearing May 2 in Hayward Municipal Court on a felony charge of illegal possession of TNT in that city.

Moscow Eases Newspaper Curb

MOSCOW (UPI) — For the first time in many years, Moscow hotel newsstands today were selling copies of a foreign "bourgeois" newspaper.

The Neue Zuricher Zeitung, a prestigious daily Swiss newspaper, was available at the Rossiya, National, Minsk, Metropole and Ukraine hotels.

But it is usually kept discreetly under the counter and sold only by request to persons who are obviously foreigners.

The only other foreign newspapers sold at the newsstands are the official organs of foreign Communist parties, such as the London Morning Star, the Paris Humanite and Rome's Unita.

30 Days In Jail On Forgery Charges

Tracy C. Bonner, 23, and Donna Jean Curtis, 33, were each sentenced to 30 days in jail in Marin Superior Court yesterday for passing forged money orders in San Rafael Dec. 19.

Judge Harold J. Haley placed each of the women on two years of probation.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Pregnancy Presents Special Problems With Diabetic Wife

VAN DELLEN

A recent bride wants to know whether she can expect any problems due to her diabetes. "I want the facts. We have decided to accept the risks involved and take necessary precautions in order to live a full life."

Special problems exist when a diabetic is pregnant, but these should cause no alarm provided the disease is kept under control while expecting and immediately after childbirth.

Control may be difficult during the first few months, especially when the woman develops morning sickness with nausea and vomiting. Daily adjustments in insulin dosage may be necessary. The physician can help when these changes are needed.

MORE INSULIN may be needed during midpregnancy explaining why the urine should be examined daily. The need increases gradually and, unless recognized, may lead to serious complications.

Toxemia of pregnancy occurs more often in diabetic than nondiabetic women; the risk also is greater when kidney disease, circulatory disorders, and other health problems coexist. Our reader should be aware of this, but not concerned, so long as she gets good medical care.

The risk also extends to the baby. Many infants were formerly lost because the child was very large and delivery was prolonged and difficult. Obstetricians now avoid these pitfalls by inducing labor three weeks before the expected date of birth.

IN SOME INSTANCES, a caesarian section is done. Decisions along this line depend upon results of regular checkups and laboratory tests. Knowing the physical size of the child, his vitality and position in the uterus is important.

Following delivery, insulin requirements decrease for two to three days. Too much insulin at this time may cause a reaction.

After a bit, pre-pregnancy dosage is resumed.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

BED WETTING AT 19

A reader writes: My 19-year-old son still wets the bed. The doctor said he is just lazy but the boy insists he doesn't know why it happens. He wants to enlist in the service, but I am afraid his problem might disqualify him. What can be done about this?

REPLY

Let nature take its course. I assume he has consulted a urologist and a psychiatrist. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on enuresis.

LIFE SPAN IN RETARDED

REPLY

No, they are unable to protect themselves against accidents, infections, and other people. Mongoloids, for example, are more susceptible to pneumococcic disease and often succumb to pneumonia before they reach maturity.

MOM'S BOY AT 37

A reader writes: A 74-year-old woman sleeps with her 37-year-old son. Do you have any comments?

REPLY

We're a bit late but if this family is destitute they should ask for public assistance. In some states, these programs are quite generous. The least they can do is to ask for twin beds.

JOHNSON GETS ICE CREAM IN A DRIPPY STATE

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson's zest for ice cream led two aides on a merry chase during his Honolulu motorcade.

As Johnson drove through Waikiki Beach area Monday, he spied a dairy bar and dispatched a Secret Service agent and the presidential valet to fetch cones for him and Gov. John A. Burns.

The familiar bubbletop limousine, flown here from Washington, came to a stop and the aides set out. But Johnson's bodyguard apparently decided it wasn't a good idea to keep the President stalled in the middle of the street while beach crowds converged on him. His car moved on.

Some 20 blocks later, the ice cream bearers caught up with Johnson — their wares dripping freely at that point.

Beria Linked To Fatal Fall

PRAGUE (UPI)—Stalin-era Soviet police boss Lavrenti P. Beria and his "gorillas" may have engineered the mysterious death of Czechoslovakian Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk in 1948, the Communist Party newspaper Rude Pravo said today.

The newspaper, touching on the subject of Msaryk's death for the first time, demanded "clarification" of Beria's activities at the time of Masaryk's fatal plunge from a foreign ministry window.

The official reason was then given as suicide but "there are serious reasons to suspect murder," Rude Pravo said. "One of the main reasons is the mysterious disappearance of several potential key witnesses."

"It is of supreme importance to clarify whether Beria's gorillas had a hand in Masaryk's death," it said. "After all, Beria's criminal clique had committed a series of crimes, also in the Soviet Union."

Jury Indicts Hayden's Son On Draft Count

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The son of actor Sterling Hayden is among nine persons indicted by a federal grand jury on draft evasion charges stemming from a March 5 demonstration.

Christian Winslow Hayden, 19, of Malibu, burned his draft notice in front of the Armed Forces Induction Center during the protest sponsored by the The Resistance, an antidraft group.

"I expect to go to jail," he said at that time. "I would rather go to jail than go to war and kill people."

The U.S. Attorney's office said yesterday young Hayden was one of nine persons indicted last week for failure to report for induction or refusal to be inducted March 5.

If convicted, Hayden could be sentenced to up to five years in prison and fined $10,000. All of the defendants face arraignment within the next few weeks, the attorney's office said.

Alioto Submits Record Budget

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mayor Joseph Alioto has submitted a record 1968-1969 budget of $489.5 million to the Board of Supervisors.

Alioto, in submitting the proposal yesterday, said it was $41 million under the amount asked by various city departments and agencies.

The new figure, however, is $43.6 million over the current budget for the year ending June 30.

Traffic Fatality Rate Off A Bit

SACRAMENTO (AP) — In the first three months this year, 1,088 persons were killed statewide in traffic accidents, the Highway Patrol reports.

This compared with 1,101 for January, February and March of 1967, the patrol said Monday.

Traffic violations for the same period increased to 298,565, up 60,523 from the first quarter of 1967.

TELEVISION REVIEW

College Basketball Is Coming Of Age

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The recently televised Houston-UCLA basketball game drew such a substantial audience that it inspired heated bidding for future video rights to the NCAA championship tournament.

With the networks heretofore generally minimizing the great popularity of college basketball around the nation, and overlooking the superior quality of modern players, the sport had been given second-class treatment.

Shrewdly, Sports Network Inc. had grabbed off the rights to the tournament and scored a coup by syndicating the classic UCLA-Houston rematch that featured Lew Alcindor against Elvin Hayes.

The major networks finally got the message after the big publicity that attended the contest. And, in fact, even though there are only three major networks—ABC, CBS and NBC—there were seven bidders recently for the future rights to the NCAA tournament.

The winning bid, a little over $1 million, was submitted by NBC-TV, which will broadcast the tournament for the next two years. ABC-TV and CBS-TV were among the losing bidders.

Network recognition of college basketball's popularity is long overdue. Actually, CBS-TV has been broadcasting the National Invitational Tournament. But particularly in recent years, the NCAA playoffs have come to be recognized as the closest thing to determining a true national champion.

The only suprising thing in the latest bidding, at least to this viewer, is that a network didn't have the push to try to schedule a weekly, nationally-televised college basketball game, the way it's done with college football. No one is claiming audience size would be comparable, but there are many persons who would be interested in watching, and television has a remarkable way of promoting a sport with potential.

Said Carl Lindemann Jr., vice president, NBC sports:

"We have watched the tremendous growth of NCAA basketball and the development of such superstars as Lew Alcindor, Elvin Hayes, Pete Maravich, Larry Miller and Westley Unseld to where we believe the tournament is now a national attraction similar to the World Series, Super Bowl, Rose and Orange Bowls, events NBC will be covering this season."

According to Lindemann, NBC-TV will broadcast four rounds of the tournament next March—including afternoon doubleheaders on three Saturdays, and a semifinal round that will be televised on a Thursday night in prime time.

It's a start, anyway.

The Channel Swim: "The Trial Lawyer," a one-hour CBS-TV documentary that includes noted attorneys Louis Nizer, F. Lee Bailey, Edward Bennett Williams, Percy Foreman and Melvin Belli, will be broadcast April 30...NBC-TV's "Catholic Hour" offers a six-part series entitled "The Changing Church" beginning May 5.

Innocent Pleas To Stolen Property

Joseph Gropuso, 30, and Frank Reed, 27, both of San Francisco, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of concealing stolen property and possessing hypodermic needles in Sausalito Thursday. Preliminary hearing on the charges was scheduled for April 24.

The men allegedly had some cases of wine stolen from the Trade Fair in Sausalito in their truck.

Plead Innocent

Mark Emerson Vincent and his wife, Michael Elizabeth Vincent, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge that they had 46 illegal marijuana plants at their house in Fairfax March 27. Their case was continued until May 15 for sentencing.

Novato's New Phone Book Carries Congressional List

Distribution of Novato's new telephone directories was completed yesterday according to Ross Wright, local manager for Western California Telephone Co.

The new directory is not much larger than last year. There are the same number of white pages, 192, and eight more yellow pages.

This year the company is putting out approximately 11,000 directories compared to 9,000 last year, Wright said. Although there are only 750 new connections this year, the increased number is due to more requests for duplicate directories, he said.

A new feature this year is a local map giving zip code numbers for the cities in Marin County on the first page of the yellow pages.

Emergency numbers are listed on the inside of the front cover again this year. Another feature is a list of the United States senators and representatives in Congress from California on page 16A of the white pages.

Astronaut Walter Schirra will command the mission in earth orbit, scheduled for August or September.

PURPLE HEART, TOO

Bronze Star Winner Receives Another

A Woodacre man who wrote to a Fairfax soldier last month congratulating him on winning the Bronze Star has received a letter from the soldier, dated April 5 in Vietnam, that he has won another Bronze Star and, "unfortunately, another Purple Heart."

But the soldier, Sp/4c David E. Trout, wrote Harry J. Pickart, "But understand that I am not a hero. I only do my job, at my best, as my comrades do. And I'm sure as you would do if you were here also.

"Your letter was of good morale value to us. We've been in the field now for 90 days of constantly chasing North Vietnamese soldiers all around Hue, Phu-Bai and Khe-Sahn.

"You have done a lot by just taking time to write."

Pickart wrote his letter to Trout after reading in the March 13 Independent-Journal that Trout, a Green Beret, had been awarded the Bronze Star for pulling two wounded men to safety although he was being fired on from three sides in an open rice paddy.

Trout's letter did not say for what he had been awarded a second Bronze Star and another Purple Heart.

Drath To Speak, Show Vietnam Film

Drath will show a film of his 1967 voyage with the Quaker relief ketch Phoenix to Haiphong, North Vietnam. After the film, he will discuss his visit in North Vietnam.

Giants In New York

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants left for New York today where they will begin an eight-game road trip tomorrow against the Mets

The Mets helped the Giants open the 1968 National League season in San Francisco last Wednesday and the Giants do the same for the Mets tomorrow. Mike McCormick more than likely will be the starter for the Giants, going against Mets rookie phenom Jerry Koosman.

Mike, the 1967 N.L. Cy Young Award winner, pitched 13 innings last Friday in his first start of the season but all he got for his trouble was an arm-straining workout. The Giants bowed to the Pirates two innings later for their first loss of the season and the Pirates made it two in a row over San Francisco the following day by nailing hardluck Gaylord Perry, 2-1.

The Giants snapped back Sunday by beating the Philadelphia Phillies twice, 13-2 and 3-1. That enabled them to start their first road trip of the year with a 3-2 mark.

The Giants play the Mets in another day game Thursday, meet the Pirates for three games during the weekend and wind up the abbreviated trip with three games against the Phillies. They return home to meet the Los Angeles Dodgers starting with a night game on April 26.

With the rotation pretty well settled down to four men, Perry will go against the Mets on Thursday and Ray Sadecki will open the Pittsburgh series on Friday night, followed by Juan Marichal, and back to McCormick.

After the first four games of the season, Willie Mays is the team hitting leader with a .417 average, followed by Jack Hiatt at .333, Jim Hart, who has three homers, at .318 and Willie McCovey at .273.

A's Wind Up Road Trip

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sal Bando was supposed to be the Oakland Athletics' big homer man, but young Reggie Jackson and Ramon Webster have stolen Sal's thunder—at least in the club's first four games of the 1968 season.

Jackson hit his second homer of the year and Webster clouted his first yesterday in backing the route-going, seven-hit pitching of John "Blue Moon" Odom as the A's beat the New York Yankees, 6-3. The victory evened Oakland's record at 2-2.

Webster also tripled in the tie-breaking run to take longball honors. Ramon hit his triple in the seventh after Bando had walked to break a 1-1 tie. Two outs later Phil Roof stroked a single to bring in Webster for a 3-1 lead.

In the eighth, Odom singled, went to second on a groundout and scored on a double by Jackson, who had hit a bases empty homer in the fourth. Webster then hit the foul pole screen at Yankee Stadium to put the game out of reach for the Yankees.

Mel Stottlemyre was charged with all the Oakland runs and left after two out in the eighth with his first loss.

Dick Howser and Mike Ferraro singled off Odom in the first and after Mickey Mantle moved them up on a sacrifice. John wild pitched Howser across for New York's first run. He settled down after that, holding the Yankees off until the ninth when they got their final two runs on a homer by Mike Tresh.

The A's conclude their first road trip of the season today against the Yankees in an afternoon game.

The A's will enplane for home immediately after the game and will be welcomed to the Bay Area some five hours later at a ceremony in the Oakland Airport terminal. They play their first game in the Oakland Coliseum tomorrow night with Gov. Ronald Reagan scheduled to throw out the first ball.

TOO BAD HE WASN'T SAFE

New York Mets catcher Jerry Grote successfully blocks a second inning scoring attempt by Houston Astros' Hal King last night. Too bad King wasn't safe, because the score still ended 1-0, the Astros winning, but it took a record 24 innings to decide the issue. See story on page 30. (UPI Telephoto)

JIM GILMARTIN

49ers' Film Provides Introduction To Nolan

A STAR IS BORN—The color film '49er Hilights of 1967" may not contain many highlights for die-hard San Francisco fans but the movie does provide an impressive introduction of Dick Nolan, the team's new head coach.

In an effort to introduce Jack Christiansen's "unknown" successor to their fans, the 49ers made Nolan a key part of their annual film, available for group showings. While Bob Fouts does most of the audio portion of the film, Nolan narrates technical portions and his picture is dubbed onto the screen.

Dave Scofield of Larkspur, the "Voice of Kezar" who has the film and will be happy to show it at group meetings if you contact him at Timmer's Realty, San Rafael, is one of Nolan's staunchest fans.

Says the Voice: "Dick just breathes determination. Why, he's another Vince Lombardi. He'll rule that squad with an iron hand and nobody, but NOBODY, will dare goof off under him."

Stewart, Crowell At San Jose

LOCAL BOYS—Defensive back Larry Stewart of Novato and end Sam Crowell of San Rafael have graduated to San Jose State's varsity and were among 74 Spartans reporting to spring drills today.

RUSS' RECORD—A phone caller asks if Russ Hodges has ever missed a Giant game since he began broadcasting for them in 1949.

Yes, Russ has missed three games: The day his daughter Judy graduated from high school, another time when he flew east to broadcast the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight and the third time when his toe suddenly exploded with gout. (No, wise guy, Russ didn't put his foot in his mouth.)

No Mays Homers On Those Days

Ironically, on none of those three occasions did Willie Mays crack a homer, thus saving Hodges' unique distinction of being the only person who has seen every one of the great centerfielder's 565 homers.

I know you're going to say that Mays must have seen all of his OWN homers, but Willie admits that at times he has had his head down while racing for base and did not actually see some of them.

Skeptics challenge Hodges' contention of having seen them all. After all, they ask, hasn't he had to powder his nose like the rest of us mortals?

"Sure," the Mill Valley broadcaster laughs, "I go out, but I wait until the pitcher or the bottom of the batting order is coming up. I never leave the booth when I think Mays might be coming up to hit in the inning."

Any more questions?

Celtics Alive And Fighting

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sam Jones isn't ready for a rocking chair just yet.

The 34-year-old sharpshooting guard of the Boston Celtics may need a breather now and then, but he's as tough as ever in the clutch. If you don't believe it, ask the Philadelphia 76ers.

Philadelphia was all set last night to finish off the Celtics in their best of 7 game Eastern final in the National Basketball Association. The 76ers led 3-1 and were at home before a sellout crowd of 15,202. Everything pointed to a Boston fade out.

Something went wrong with the script. Boston won 122-104. Old and tired Sam Jones fired in 37 points.

"When you're down 3-1," said Old Sam after he finished shooting up the 76ers, "You just pull up your socks and get the job done."

Jones connected on 15 of 27 from the field and threw a natural at the foul line—7 for 11. He broke the back of the team he describes as the strongest physically he's ever seen.

So, the series headed back to Boston for the sixth game tomorrow night. A seventh, if necessary is slated for Philadelphia Friday night.

Jones didn't put down the defending champions all by himself. John Havlicek poured in 29 points and handed out 10 assists.

Wayne Embry came on in the second half and kept Wilt Chamberlain — 28 points, 30 rebounds, seven assists—away from the basket with his bull-like defense. Bill Russell grabbed 34 rebounds.

The Celtics wound up the liveliest corpse you ever saw.

Philadelphia went stone cold, shooting 3-for-21 and winding up 7-for-29 in the final 12 minutes — 24.1 per cent. Over the same period, Boston shot 16-for-26 — a 61.5 clip.

Committee: Tear Down Candlestick

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A mayor's advisory committee has recommended construction of a domed 55,000-seat multi-purpose stadium, south of Market Street.

The committee recommended immediate start of construction and also demolition of Candlestick Park, the home of the San Francisco Giants.

The committee also suggested creation of a sports authority to finance the new stadium and a sports center arena.

The committee on spectator sports was appointed at the request of Mayor Joseph Alioto.

The committee turned down any idea of enlarging Candlestick Park to accommodate football.

A Candlestick expansion was rejected because, the committee said, a downtown stadium close to all the city's transportation systems would provide the greatest accessibility for the greatest number of people.

Candlestick is about 10 miles from the center of town. It was estimated that the cost of a new stadium would be $17 million more than the cost of enlarging Candlestick.

COKES PUTS HIS TITLE ON THE LINE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes and challenger Willie Ludick of South Africa expect to weigh in at around 146 pounds each for their 15-round title fight tonight.

Cokes, declaring "I have no problems" and thinking only of getting the fight over so he can take some more lucrative scraps that will pay for a restaurant he is installing in Dallas, said he would probably be down to 145 but might hit 146.

Ludick, getting his first professional fight away from home — he has had 29 fights, winning 27 of them — said he weighed exactly 147 last night.

Both said they were in the peak of condition.

By MILTON RICHMAN

ATLANTA (UPI)—The country has a new hero.

It suddenly became obvious when he walked through the Atlanta airport here where people from all over the land come and go every day without ever bothering to notice who is walking alongside them.

But Roberto DeVicenzo produced an infectious, instantaneous glow from all those around him as he came through the marbeled main terminal of the airport.

People who wouldn't have known him 24 hours before he was a victim of poor penmanship at the Masters now nudged one another and whispered: "That's him . . . that's him!"

It was Roberto DeVicenzo, indeed, and he looked the same way he always does—like the guy next door after a hard day's work.

A number of people told him how sorry they were for what happened to him.

"Thank you," DeVicenzo answered each one. "You are kind."

Nor did he ever take anything away from Bob Goalby, the winner, regardless how often people came up to him and told him they felt badly.

TAKES BLAME

"Bob Goalby feels bad, Tommy Aaron feels bad and I feel bad," said the gentle-mannered, 45-year-old touring golf pro from Argentina. "We all feel bad. But it is nobody to blame except me."

When DeVicenzo left the terminal people kept talking about him and the injustice of it all.

"It was a heck of a way to lose the Masters, wasn't it?" said J. A. McClure, a young airline employee behind a ticket counter.

Everybody talked about Roberto's bad luck.

"Wasn't it a crime to have to happen to a fellow like him," said fellow golfer George Archer, on the way to his next stop on the tour, the Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas. "They don't come any better than Roberto. He's a wonderful man.

"But I don't think the rule should be changed. I know we never have any trouble like that on the regular PGA tour. When you finish your round the scorer always holds your card and says, 'Okay, call it back to me.' I've won three tournaments and that's what they always did with me."

De Vicenzo didn't linger in the terminal for any length of time.

There was a group of men from the Dunlop Rubber Company, with whom he is affiliated, to meet him at the airport and take him on a visit of their plant.

ROBERTO QUIET

Roberto greeted them with a smile but didn't talk much about the events of the day before.

One of the company officials at the plant hadn't been at Augusta to see the Masters but he had heard "on good authority" what had happened there.

"I understand he got the rush act a little after he finished his round," said the official. "One of the girls who works for us was in Augusta and she told me she saw the whole thing."

De Vicenzo had mentioned the incident after his round Sunday but he was always careful not to blame anyone but himself. And the only reason he talked about the incident was because someone asked him about it.

"When I finish," he said, "I am at the 18th green and someone says to me, 'when you finish here, you come with me.' I tell him okay. No, I do not know if he is from television or from where. But it was not his fault about the scorecard, it was mine."

There is no doubt that De Vicenzo, a man who makes friends easily and a man who has won more tournaments the world over than any other golfer, won more people to his side by what happened Sunday than he would have by winning the Masters title outright.

The touring golf pros are a peculiar breed. They're not lavish with praise for each other. But when one veteran was asked what is the first thing he thinks of when he thinks of Roberto De Vicenzo, he said:

"My first through when I think of Roberto De Vicenzo is here is a man who never begrudges anyone else anything."

DUST OR TEARS? — It was just a speck of dust but nobody could have blamed 45-year-old Argentinian Roberto De Vicenzo for crying after he missed a playoff for the 1968 Masters Tournament title because he signed an incorrect scorecard. Bob Goalby won the title. (UPI Telephoto)

WOMAN FIGHT MANAGER

She Has Hopes For Title

MILLVILLE, N.J. (AP) — The fight manager closely scrutinized the two boxers sparring in the gymnasium.

The manager gave the fighters a few instructions and told them to take a breather.

Then the manager walked up to a mirror, checked her lipstick and makeup and hurried home to cook supper for her husband.

Mrs. Bonnie Coccaro, an attractive grandmother, is the manager who began her unique career two years ago.

Mrs. Coccaro says she heard of only one other woman fight manager — in California.

She is licensed by the Pennsylvania and Virginia State Boxing Commissions, and like all fight managers, Mrs. Coccaro dreams of the day when one of her "boys" will win a title match.

She has four pros under her tutelage.

"On the day one of my boys fight, I cook his meals," she said while watching fighters working out in her husbands gym. "For breakfast, I give him juice, two soft-boiled eggs, dry toast and plain toast.

"Around two or three o'clock in the afternoon, I give him steak, salad and tea, then I make sure he rests for a couple of hours."

Being a woman in a man's world has its drawbacks.

Mrs. Coccaro recalled the day when she took one of her fighters to the boxing commission's office in Philadelphia to prepare for a match in the Spectrum.

"When the boys went into the back room to weigh in, I was politely stopped and told, 'You can't go in, lady, the boys strip.'"

Mrs. Coccaro, a former beautician, is no stranger to boxing, having been an avid fan since she was a girl in New York City. Her husband, Tony, fought in the 1930s, winning 100 of 117 amateur and professional bouts.

Tony now runs the Millville Athletic Club and manages several amateurs, whom Mrs. Coccaro watches closely.

"When they're ready to turn pro, that's when I take over," she explained. My husband takes care of the amateurs."

"I don't expect to become a millionaire, but we're shooting for the top," said Mrs. Coccaro, who became a grandmother in February.

READY FOR THE DEBUT — Last minute touches are being added to the Oakland Coliseum in preparation for its debut as a major league baseball stadium tomorrow night when the Oakland Athletics meet the Baltimore Orioles in the A's 1968 home opener. (AP Wirephoto)

Familiar Face In Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe DiMaggio's old No. 5 has been retired for all time at Yankee Stadium. A chunk of the Yankee Clipper's pinstriped uniform hangs in a place of honor with Babe Ruth's No. 3 and Lou Gehrig's No. 4.

But DiMaggio was back in action at the big Stadium yesterday afternoon, wearing the Kelly green and Fort Knox gold uniform of the Oakland Athletics. He had the white kangaroo shoes, too, and the familiar No. 5 was on his back.

It wasn't exactly a fit day for a homecoming for an old hero. A Monday afternoon, clouds hanging low and only a few fans (8,579) in the stands.

Joe D. Stood near the batting cage, shaking hands with old friends and talking about his new job as executive vice president and coach for the transplanted A's.

"The most heartwarming thing that happened to me," DiMaggio said, "was the way all the old employees come up to me and wished me luck. Sort of like Oldtimers Day all over again. It was the same way in Baltimore. They gave me a big hand in Baltimore, too."

DiMag looked out on the field where Sal Bando, the A's young third baseman, was fielding a ground ball. "We have some good kids," he said. "Bando is going to be a good one. The kids are a little tense but they'll be all right."

How did DiMaggio feel, pulling against the Yanks after all those years on the other side?

"Look, I know all these kids or 90 per cent of them. Mickey is a great guy. He's an old friend, and I hope he plays for years and hits plenty—but not against our club.

"It sounds funny doesn't it?"

DiMaggio doesn't work on the coaching lines. He sits on the bench with Manager Bob Kennedy. He doesn't take batting practice because of a bad back.

"Going to do any bench jockeying Joe," a fellow asked.

"Not me," he said. "I used to hear a lot of that while I was playing. No, I'm enjoying it this way. Nobody throws that fast one under my chin. No curve balls or sliders. If one of the kids is going bad, I try to help him."

If it seems strange to old Yankee fans that a folk hero comes back to town in an enemy uniform, don't blame Joe D. When a fellow asked Joe how close he had been to returning to the Yanks, he shook his head and said it again:

"Nobody ever asked me."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Astros Beat Poor Mets In A 24-Inning Marathon

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rusty Staub said things started getting pretty funny around the 17th inning. Roy Hofheinz officially sanctioned the humor of the situation five innings later.

Two innings before the longest night game in major league history ended in the Astrodome last night with Houston a 1-0 victor over the New York Mets — who else? — the following legend appeared on Astros' owner Hofheinz' psychedelic scoreboard:

"The judge says he's ready to go to bed . . . let's score a run."

FUNNY

"After about the 17th inning, everything sort of got funny," said Staub, who batted nine times in the six hour, six minute,24-inning contest. The game outlasted by two innings the longest night game played previously, a 6-5 American League victory for Washington over Chicago last year.

"That was a three-package-of-tobacco game, and I've just got one chew left," said catcher-coach Buddy Hancken of the Astros.

The game mercifully came to an end in typical Metsian fashion, with an error letting in the run after eight pitchers had battled valiantly to preserve the scoreless deadlock.

RALLIES

In the only other National League games played, Los Angeles rallied heroically to beat Pittsburgh 3-2 and St. Louis topped Atlanta 4-3 in 10 innings.

Shortstop Al Weis let a grounder off the bat of Bob Aspromonte go through his legs and that sent in Norm Miller, who led off with a single and advanced on a balk by Les Rohr and an infield out.

"No, it didn't take a bad hop," said Weis afterwards. "I just blew it. It went right through my legs."

Tom Seaver was the first of the Met hurlers, giving up just two hits in 10 innings and retiring 22 batters in a row after the third inning.

WHAT A DUEL

Don Wilson did almost as well in the first nine innings for Houston, but was long gone by the time Wade Blasingame, the fifth Houston pitcher, was officially declared the winner.

The Dodgers won in a finish that would have made a writer of juvenile sports fiction blush. Bob Beale was breezing along on a one-hitter into the ninth, but Jim Lefebvre's two-out, two-run homer beat him.

The first Los Angeles run of the inning, scoring on an infield out, was only the second scored in 44 innings this season. Until then, the Dodgers seemed likely to absorb their fourth shutout defeat in the five-game-old season.

SINGER WINS

Bill Singer, who gave up only six hits himself, and retired 19 batters in a row at one stretch, was the winner. Veale didn't allow a hit until the fifth when Rocky Colavito singled.

And in yet another last-inning finish, Johnny Edwards came up with a pinch single that drove in the winning run for the Cards. Pat Jarvis and Bog Gibson had duelled 1-1 into the seventh when Hank Aaron's homer gave Atlanta a one-run bulge.

But Roger Maris drove in two runs in the eighth for the Cards with a double and not until Dal Maxvill singled in the 10th and rode home on Edwards' single was the game decided.

Tam Golfers Take Lead In Prep Race

The Marin County Athletic League golf lead changed hands over wind-swept Meadow Club golf course in Fairfax yesterday.

Tamalpais High grabbed the lead with a 2-0 record after dropping Marin Catholic, 222-251, while powerful Novato was handing Redwood its first loss, 215-223.

The loss dropped Redwood into a 2-1 record and a tie with Novato.

Despite blistering winds, four golfers came in with scores of 41 in the Redwood-Novato collision, two for Redwood and two for Novato.

Ray Leach and Dick Leisure carded 41s for Novato and Nip Grey and George Carewe did the same for the Giants, but Redwood's bottom three did not come up to snuff for the balanced Hornets.

Wayne Smith's 42 paced the Indians in their victory over the Wildcats, who were topped by Paul Culver with a 47.

Tamalpais Scoring — Wayne Smith, 42; Craig Smith,, 43; Bill Bleyle, 44; Kevin Hogan, 45; Jeff DeVoto, 48.

Marin Catholic Scoring — Paul Culver, 47; Mike London, 49; Tom Bertolle, 49; Jeff O'Donnell, 52; Steve Vail, 54.

Novato Scoring — Ray Leach, 41; Mike Ahearn, 42; Dick Leisure, 41; Jeff Leisure, 43; Mike Fry, 45.

Redwood Scoring — Nip Grey, 41, George Carewe, 41; Wayne Duerson, 46; Bruce McCarthy, 47; Art Carewe, 48.

Five Triple-Winners For Marin Swim Club

Five triple winners led the Marin Swim Club to a 276½-246½ dual swim meet win over the Santa Rosa Neptunes last Saturday.

Twins' Road Record Is Very Healthy 5-0

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spring has been a little late this year in Minnesota, but a heat wave is on the way.

Big Bob Allison and the torrid Twins are coming home.

While temperatures hovered around the freezing mark in Minneapolis-St. Paul last night, Allison continued his early-season hitting binge with two doubles and a triple at Baltimore as the unbeaten Twins whipped the Orioles 6-3 for their fifth straight road victory.

Allison led American League hitters with a .550 average and the Twins topped the A.L. standings as they headed back to Minnesota for tomorrow's home opener against Washington.

The Senators blanked California 7-0 behind Camilo Pascual's six-hit, nine-strikeout pitching and the Oakland A's downed the New York Yankees 6-3 in American League day games. Detroit and Boston were rained out and Cleveland and Chicago were not scheduled.

Allison doubled in the second inning, tripled in the fourth and doubled again in the sixth—giving him eight hits in nine at-bats—before going out in his last two trips to the plate. The former Kansas fullback, who drove in one run and scored two, has gone 11-for-20 over-all, with four doubles, one triple and one homer.

Right-hander Dave Boswell overcame a shaky start and held the Orioles to four hits. Tony Oliva's seventh inning single broke a 3-3 tie and Harmon Killebrew singled home two insurance runs in the ninth.

At Washington, Pascual became the only active American League pitcher to reach the 2,000 strikeout mark when he fanned the Angels' Chuck Hinton in the fourth inning.

The 34-year-old right-hander, who missed the last three weeks of the 1967 season after breaking his left ankle in a game to California, finished the day with a total of 2,007 strikeouts and the 33rd shutout of his career.

TOUGH TO KEEP EYES ON THE BALL

National League batters find it hard to keep their eyes on the ball when Jim Bunning is doing the pitching. As this sequence shows, the Pittsburgh Pirates' hurler shows a tangle of arms and legs as he flies off the mound with a fast ball. Last time out, Sunday, Bunning blanked the Dodgers 3-0 and became the first hurler since Cy Young to strike out more than 1,000 batters in each of the two major leagues. (UPI Telephoto)

Casper Found Answer To His Big Problem

The time was Easter 1957. But to Bill Casper, it was just another Sunday when he didn't feel good. He was too fat, too tired, too sleepy. What's more, his putts weren't dropping.

In another room, he heard his wife, Shirley, and his daughter, Linda, aged 4, bustling about getting ready for church. They sounded happy, which vaguely unsettled Bill.

BILL HAD AN arrangement with his wife. He had nothing against religion, he knew there was a God (after all how else did you explain chip shots that occasionally flew in the hole?) and he would be the last person in the world to slice a shot through a stained-glass window. But Sundays were for golfing. He got down on his knees only to play a shot that landed under a bush, his only "Bible" was a well-thumbed book which explained such mysteries of the universe as lateral water hazards and the rules for playing them, the free drop — the Book of Lies, you might say, unplayable and otherwise.

Bill had just stuffed this book and the golf glove in his pocket when he heard his daughter say "Yes, Sundays are only for mommies and children to go to church. Daddies play golf."

IT WAS LIKE hearing a cough on your backswing. But the next statement spoiled the tee shot altogether. "Shouldn't Daddies go to church, too?" Linda demanded of mother. "Wouldn't it help him, too?"

Now, I don't know whether you know it or not, but golfers, as a class, are the most suggestible of athletes. They live life only one micrometer edge away from perfection — ditto from disaster — and they know it. They will listen to advice from anyone, bootblack or bank baron, hacker or hustler. Let a guy two fairways away murmur "He's got his right hand too far over on the club" and, chances are, the rabbit-eared golfer will promptly make the adjustment.

BILL CASPER knows a good suggestion when he hears one. History records that, on that Sunday morning, he put down his clubs, tossed his book of local rules back in the drawer, grabbed his hat and said to his wife and daughter "Wait a minute, I'll join you."

History also records that, up to that time, Bill Casper was just "the other player" from San Diego — the "fat one." Gene Littler was the resident pride and joy of Mission Bay.

What's more, Bill only looked jolly — as so many overweight people do. Actually, an unhappy child had grown up into an unhappy man.

SOME GOLFERS only need a right-to-left fade to be successful others, a new putter. Bill needed a new Caddy. He was underclubbing himself in Life. He had been riding up and down the road to Damascus in blindfolds and ear plugs like most of the rest of us.

The athletic success Bill Casper has enjoyed since that fateful Sunday is beside the point, even though it's impressive (35 of the total of 37 tourneys he has won, including TWO National Opens, have come since that day).

WHAT IS TO the point is not what's come off his score but what's come off Bill — 40 pounds of flesh, 100 pounds of personal discontent and dissatisfaction. He can now read the breaks on more important greens than Augusta's — or Merion's or Winged Foot's.

Much has been made of the fact that Bill has a "key" to his game which makes it possible for him to come back after a 6-week layoff and a tour to the troops in Southeast Asia and shoot 5 straight rounds under 70 and win a tournament (Greensboro) wire-to-wire. To win two tournaments and to be in two playoffs in five tourneys played this year.

I DON'T THINK the "key" will show up in a stroboscopic photo. I think it lies in the cornerstone of his new Mormon faith in the Epistle of James that inspired Joseph Smith:

"If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him."

Stiff Fines Handed Out For Brawl

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Blues, Chicago Black Hawks and Los Angeles Kings can take a major step toward the big money Stanley Cup finals tonight. But the Blues and Philadelphia Flyers already have paid a hefty price for their brawl-filled quarter-final series.

St. Louis, Chicago and Los Angeles each lead 3-2 in games in their best-of-seven series against the Flyers, New York Rangers and Minnesota North Stars, respectively. The Blues and Black Hawks will be at home while the Kings will play on the North Stars' ice.

Players and coaches of the Blues and Flyers were fined a total of $3,800 yesterday by Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League President, for their part in a brawl during last Saturday's sixth game in Philadelphia.

Stanford Must Face Powerful USC Trackmen

PALO ALTO (AP) — Stanford track coach Payton Jordan doesn't count sheep when he tries to sleep.

He counts Trojans — four of them—and in his dream they drop the baton and Stanford beats Southern California in a dual track meet for the first time since 1933.

But Jordan admitted to the Northern California Track Writers yesterday that his Saturday's meet in Los Angeles could turn into a nightmare.

The powerful Trojans breezed by Oregon last weekend, 92-53, while Stanford gave UCLA a battle but lost 79-66.

The Trojans' 440 relay team of Earl McCullouch, Fred Kuller, Lennox Miller and O. J. Simpson has run 39.5 this year.

"We've done 41.1 but we have a knack of passing well," said Jordan. "I don't say we'll beat them, but they'll have to run for it.

"We're a lot more prepared now to take on the Giants of the track world," he said. "We'll be up among them next spring."

The Indians, whose only dual victory has come over Fresno State, achieved 13 lifetime bests in the UCLA meet.

Boxing League Formed

CHICAGO (AP) — Plans to form a professional boxing league with fighters getting group insurance, pensions and other benefits were unfolded yesterday.

Franchises in eight cities including Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston, Louisville, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington, D.C., were announced by sports commentator Jack Drees.

Groups are working in New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta and Miami to become members, revealed Drees, one of the owners of the Chicago franchise.

IBL

The organization will be known as the International Boxing League, Inc., and hopes to begin operations this fall.

Boxers will be placed under an annual contract ranging from $8,000 to $15,000," Drees said. "There will be no managers. The contract will be owned by the team for which he competes. Group insurance, pensions plans and other benefits are included."

Drees said the plan has the endorsement of the World Boxing Association.

Each team will carry a squad of 15 fighters, three for each weight division. Teams will compete for divisional championships with champions meeting for the league title. All bouts will be six rounds.

DRAFT POOL

"The AAU and Golden Gloves could become our draft pool," said Drees. "I don't expect too many from the existing pro ranks.

"Fighters of world championship class are not involved in the team bouts," he said. "When any of our fighters reach such a level, they could get their own managers, or our league could provide them with personalized service."

Drees foresees the return of weekly television boxing shows under the league program with a season lasting from 30 to 40 weeks.

One-Man Show In Rec Softball

Pitcher Mike Gayle put on a one-man show to lead the Potentials to a 6-4 win over Indian Valley Lumber in B Division play of the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball Spring League.

Gayle went the distance, allowing four hits and striking out 13 batters while contributing two hits including a two-run homer for three runs batted in.

In other B games, Cal's Steak House, after trailing Fairchild 6-1, came back to take a 7-6 verdict. Roy Wolford with a double and a triple, three runs scored and two batted in, topped Cal's.

Cliff's Chevron romped over the Jaycees, 12-1.

BOWLING TIPS

MARION LADEWIG

Are you making a 100 per cent effort to become a good bowler? If you resemble the girl in today's illustration as you deliver the ball, you probably aren's. She isn't paying attention to details. Her left knee is not bent nearly enough and as a result she is about to let the ball drop from too great a height. Remember: Bend deep if you want to score. But, more than this, don't be embarrassed to try hard and fail. It's the only way you will ever succeed and no one admires people who are not trying.

Saturday Night TV Football

NEW YORK (AP) — The tide seems to be turning toward televising nationally, college football games on Saturday nights.

The meeting of Alabama's Crimson Tide and the Miami, Fla. Hurricanes on Nov. 16 will be one of two nationally televised on Saturday nights next season, it was announced yesterday by ABC-TV in releasing its schedule.

The other will be the Southern California-UCLA game on Nov. 23, although this one will be seen at night for only part of the country because it is scheduled to start at 6 p.m., EST.

A wild card game is another feature of the season television program. Under this arrangement, ABC will be able to select one extra game on any date during the season and televise it. A game or games already scheduled for that date still will be televised.

Bay Area Fishing Fraternity Loses One Of Its Favorites

STEVENS

Another very well known figure on the fishing scene has faded out. Alice Quan, of China Camp, died last Wednesday.

Alice Quan was one of the truly old timers. I remember Alice from the days when China Camp was headquarters for shrimp boats. I will miss her voice over the telephone as will hundreds of fishermen in the Bay Area. That this is so was shown by the large number of mourners at the funeral.

Joe Wun of the C. V. Sports Center reported a very prolific catfish trip — Richard Lopez, Fred Steefloth, and Clyde Wells took limits of the tasty smoothskins, all of good size and at least one that was a lunker. The boys fished in Old River.

Joe Wun did a bit of mild raving over the large number of crappies being taken in Lake Chabot. Honorable mention to Terry and Willis Clemmey, Mark Marrison and Gilbert Mattos of South County, all of whom took limits or near limits. (Limits in this case means "until tired of hauling the flatties in.) The boys favored such lures as the Flea Fly and Crappie Killer.

A release from the Resources Agency of California states that the Department of Fish and Game has added to the list of waters planted with catchable size trout before the opening of trout season, April 27.

The three additional waters are: Atascadero near Atascadero in San Luis-Obispo; Laguna Lake, near the city of San Luis Obispo, and Spring Creek Reservoir near Santa Rosa in Sonoma County.

The addition of these three waters brings to 29 the number of waters in the central coastal region.

NOTE: You are reminded that Hammerhorn Lake in Mendocino County is in the area which will NOT open for trout fishing until the late season May 25. Also be be reminded that waters in the Eel River drainage in Mendocino County are in the late trout season.

If hiking is to your liking you will be in "Wild" trout waters. The headwaters of the Carmel River, Big Sur River, Arroyo Seco Creek is Minterey County and many of the smaller streams along the coast have a small wild trout population.

Market Is Uncertain At Closing

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today with gains exceeding losses but with the Dow Jones industrial average depressed by losses of blue chips.

Profit taking on such heavy-weight key stocks as Du Pont, a 7-point gainer yesterday, was one of the reasons for the uncertain market.

Occidental Petroleum, up ⅜ at 40; American Airlines, off 1 at 25⅞; Du Pont, off 4⅛ at 173⅜; Eastman Kodak, off 2 at 151½; IBM, off 4¼ at 644; Westinghouse Air Brake, off 1¼ at 47¾; Western Air Lines, up 1¼ at 32½; and Eastern Air Lines, up 1½ at 35.

The market backed away from a clear-cut gain in the morning. The downing of a U.S. plane over Haiphong apparently was interpreted as an incident which might snag peace talks with North Vietnam.

After four straight daily advances there were profits to be taken anyway. Du Pont dropped more than 2 points of Monday's 7-point spurt on news of higher profits. IBM lost 5. Eastman Kodak 3. Control Data 2.

Some airlines responded bullishly to a published report a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner had recommended that some air carriers that aren't serving the Pacific now be allowed to do so. Western Airlines jumped more than 2 and Eastern nearly a point while TWA added a fraction, but Northwest slipped more than a point.

An early advance by steels, liked with record weekly output, turned into irregularity. Autos also were irregular. Chrysler dropped about 1½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Living Furniture Inc. To Move Into Belvedere Street Location

An expanding business in Marin has been that of Living Furniture, Inc., which has been operation about four years — first on Vivian Way, San Rafael and for the past three years at 540 Irwin Street.

On May 1 this company, headed by Robert Waxman and Stanley Narin, will take over about three-quarters of the main floor of the former L. C. Smith Building Supplies building at 124 Belvedere Street. They have leased all of the retail area and half of the warehouse, a total of 14,000 square feet, through J. Ray Van Meter Jr. of Coldwell, Banker and Co.

The company specializes in furniture rentals to apartment house owners and requires more room for displaying its wares. Also, after four years, some used furnishings have been accumulated and these will be put on sale.

Still unleased in the Smith building are the second floor, office area and rest of the warehouse.

NEWLY OPENED at 1368 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael is JDH Associates, a data processing consultant firm.

This is a temporary office taken by James Hillier through William W. Hoey and Co., preparatory to opening a full data processing center at Northgate Industrial Park later this year. Hillier, who has been a data processing consultant in San Francisco, now leases time at one of that city's computer centers for his work until he installs his own equipment here.

He does programming, computer processing and systems designing for both large and small business firms. Another office is being planned for Ukiah.

Hanses

Nelson

CO-OPERATORS Frank Hanses and William M. Nelson Jr. of Home and Land Co. in Southern Marin have taken over the Tiburon real estate office of Belvedere Associates from William Slater II. The latter and his employees have joined the Home and Land staff in the new office, which will be located on Tiburon Boulevard at the corner of Mar West Avenue.

Home and Land has another Tiburon office at 1690 Tiburon Boulevard, an office at 950 Redwood Highway, adjoining Strawberry Town and Country Village, and one at 258 Redwood Highway, Sausalito near the SFO heliport.

Home and Land Co., San Rafael is a separate office operated by Edward P. Ward, although Ward, Hanses and Nelson are joined together in the ownership of both businesses.

OTHER REAL ESTATE. Joseph F. Asiano has moved his office from Mill Valley to 664 Las Gallinas Avenue, Terra Linda. . . . Waldon Realty has moved from San Anselmo to 2050-A Fourth Street, San Rafael. . . . Gary Brown has moved from 900 Mission Avenue to 19 Joseph Court, San Rafael. . . . William Timmer and 15 of his salesmen attended the recent California Real Estate Association educational sales conference in Santa Rosa. . . . Forest Knolls office of Strout Realty reports a record high sale of country properties in March.

MOTORCRAFT. Bruce's Radiator Shop. San Rafael has been taken over by Eugene Joseph who has been working there. Former owner Bruce Thompson died last November. Name will remain the same. . . . Novato Ford dealer Laurence J. Dervin is hoping he may be able to move into his new showrooms in another month, but it may be closer to June 1. . . . Joseph Gunther of A AND E Motors, San Rafael has returned from Germany where he attended a special training session at the NSU Wankel automobile factory.

IMAGE, formerly an annual magazine devoted exclusively to Marin and Sonoma counties, has been expanded to a quarterly and now encompasses all of Northern California. Spring issue is now on the news stands and in bookstores.

TRIPS: C. C. McGarr of Rice Supply, Inc., San Rafael was a seminar discussion leader at the recent Armstrong Cork Co. building products convention at Lancaster, Pa. . . . Bruce Leeb of San Rafael, a medical service representative for the J. B. Roerig Division, Chas Pfizer and Co., Inc., has completed a two-week training course at the company's New York headquarters. He has been with the division for the past year.

ALFRED W. FISBECK has been named executive secretary of the American Sheep Producers Council, effective July 1. He joined the council in 1961 and became assistant advertising manager in 1962.

BARBARA J. EGOIAN of Belvedere has joined the San Rafael real estate office of Grubb and Ellis Co. and will specialize in Belvedere-Tiburon residential properties. For the past three years she has been with Fox and Carskadon and was a $1 million producer last year. Previosly she had been church editor for the San Francisco Chronicle.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Keeping Chrysler Shares Wise Move

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Some years back after Chrysler split the first time I bought a small amount which of course doubled when the shares split again. I've held them ever since. Later this year I may need cash and wonder when I should take my profits. — H. DeM.

A. First, let me commend you for your patience in holding Chrysler so long. Now, however, the company is giving evidence of more profitable operations, and the auto industry generally expects a better 1968.

Despite problems created by foreign competition and heavier costs for labor, materials and pension programs, business is looking up for the auto makers. Current trade reports show that late-March sales of new cars spurted 25 per cent over 1967, generating optimism among dealers and producers.

The gain in Chrysler's sales year-to-year for the full month and the first quartsr of 1968 was only slightly less than this 25 per cent figure. Chrysler's gain topped that of its two major competitors by a wide margin. The company's share of the U. S. market has risen from 10 per cent in 1962 to more than 18 per cent thus far in 1968. The future looks promising. New management has been effecting worthwhile economics while at the same time increasing dealerships.

I would hold Chrysler for the present, and if you must liquidate to raise cash I suggest that you sell part and try to keep your original commitment in order to benefit from what we all hope to see — a booming postwar market if peace materializes.

Q. My husband bought 5 shares of Brunswick in 1963. Shouldn't we have received more than two dividends? We want to sell while the market is going up. How do we do this? —W. B.

A. Brunswick's last dividend of 15 cents was paid June 15, 1963. Total payments for that year were 30 cents. I would sell your shares which should be done through a broker. The stock seems altogether too speculative for you even though company operations are improving.

Natomas Lists Accomplishments For Last Year

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Natomas Co.'s annual report to shareholders has been issued and highlighted these 1967 developments:

Participation by Natomas in petroleum exploration and development programs offshore northwest Java and in the Red Sea area of Saudi Arabia. Geophysical survey work is proceeding in both areas.

Approval by the federal Maritime Commission of merger of the company's shipping interest — American President Lines, American Mail Line and Pacific Far East Line.

Entry of three new freighters into APL's service. Thirteen additional vessels are now under construction for the three shipping companies.

The company's combined net income for the year ending Dec. 31 amounted to $5,675,431 or $1.79 per share on the 3,176,635 shares outstanding.

Bank Debits, Deposits Up

Marin County bank debits and deposits for March continued the 1968 trend of remaining agove year earlier figures.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $168,994,000, compared with $158,997,000 for the same month a year ago. Unadjusted deposits were $96,641,000, compared with last year's $84,992,000.

No seasonally adjusted debits, deposits or turnover ratios are yet reported for Marin County.

Cadillac Sales

DETROIT (BW) — Following three consecutive monthly new car sales records, Cadillac dealers posted another record for the April 1-10 period with 6,039 domestic deliveries, or more than 7 per cent larger than the former record for the April 1-10 period, 5,597, set in 1965.

Earnings Increase

SEATTLE — Earnings from operations for VWR United Corp. in the year ended Feb. 29 increased 7.6 per cent to $3,031,288, or $1.33 per share on 2,277,940 shares outstanding.
